the class of '74

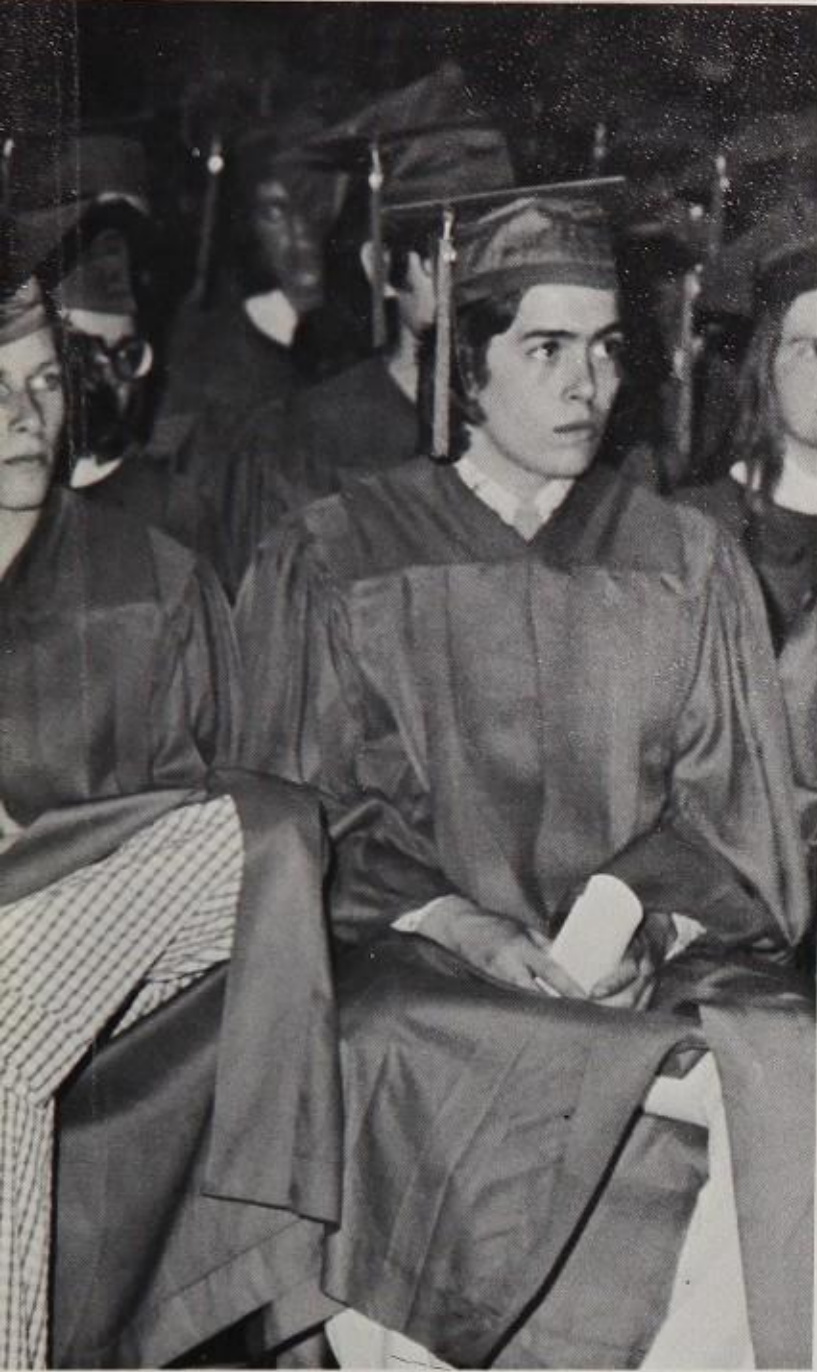

Graduation 1974 was, as usual, an occasion of many feelings: it was wonderful freedom, yet depressing sadness, mildly thrilling---but, as always, boring. It was hot, as usual. Patrick Gordon, faculty speaker from the English Department, talked of different perspectives and the communication in the world today. The student speaker, Brian Earl, delivered his address on "Potential", using quotes from Gordon Lightfoot.

The former seniors left the gym having listened to Senior A Cappella and Rithum Machine instead of the old standby Pomp and Circumstance. Today there is not much pomp, but the circumstance is still the same: everything is different yet alike.

goes forth

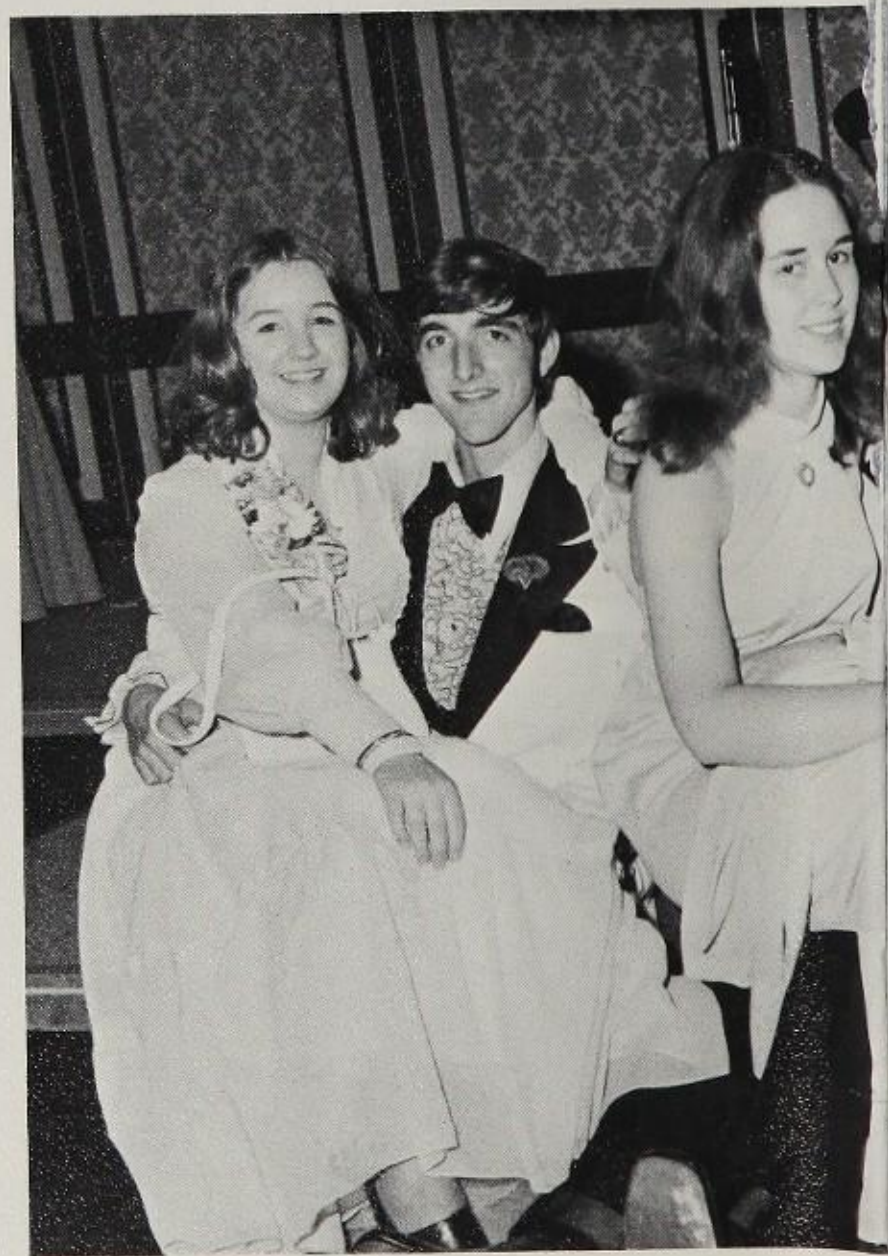

prom is . . . prom is . . .

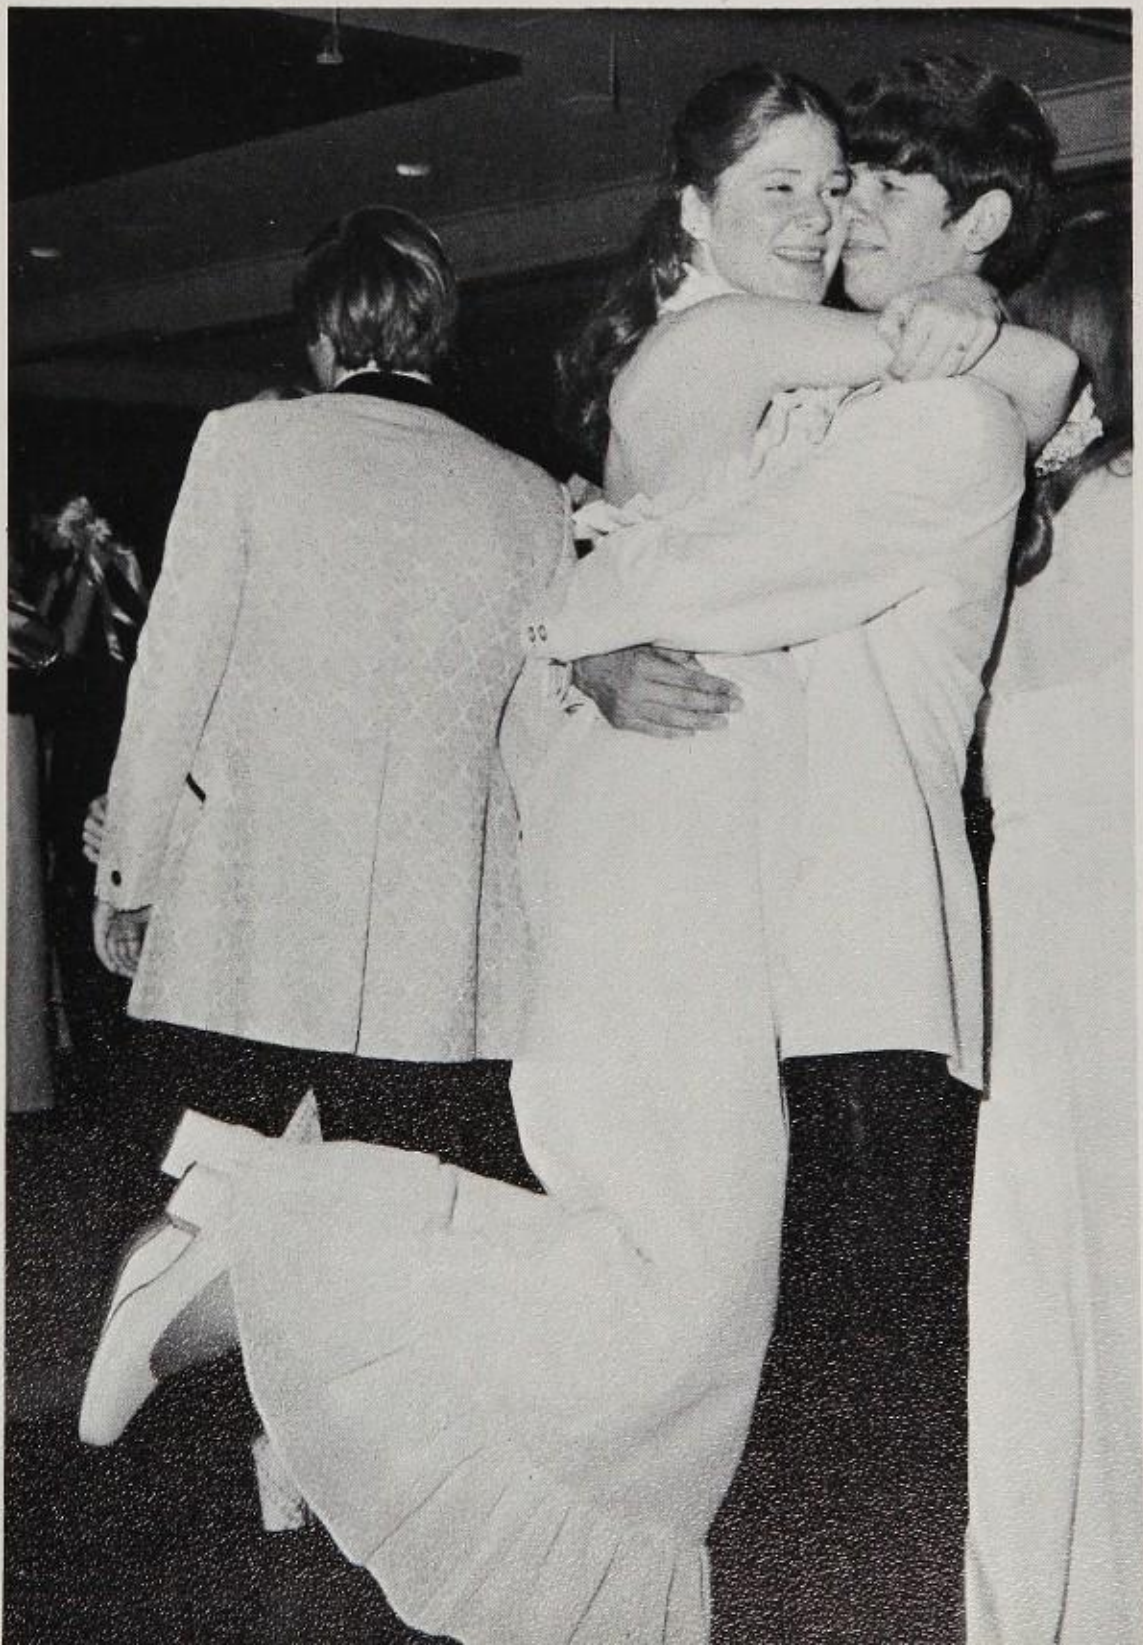

Everyone has heard of "Frankenstein" and its famous sequel "The Bride of Frankenstein." Most know about "The Wolfman" and "The Return of the Wolfman." Last year, there was Prom, and then there was Son of Prom. Prom was held at the Sheraton-O'Hare Inn, and turned out to be a perfect evening except for the fact that the band never showed up. The only entertainment was champagne music (except, of course, when the musicians took a Geritol break).

Next morning's prom trip was pronounced a success by all, although not everyone was sure where he was going. Most went to the Indiana Dunes State Park and jumped down the sand dunes. Some even stayed at home.

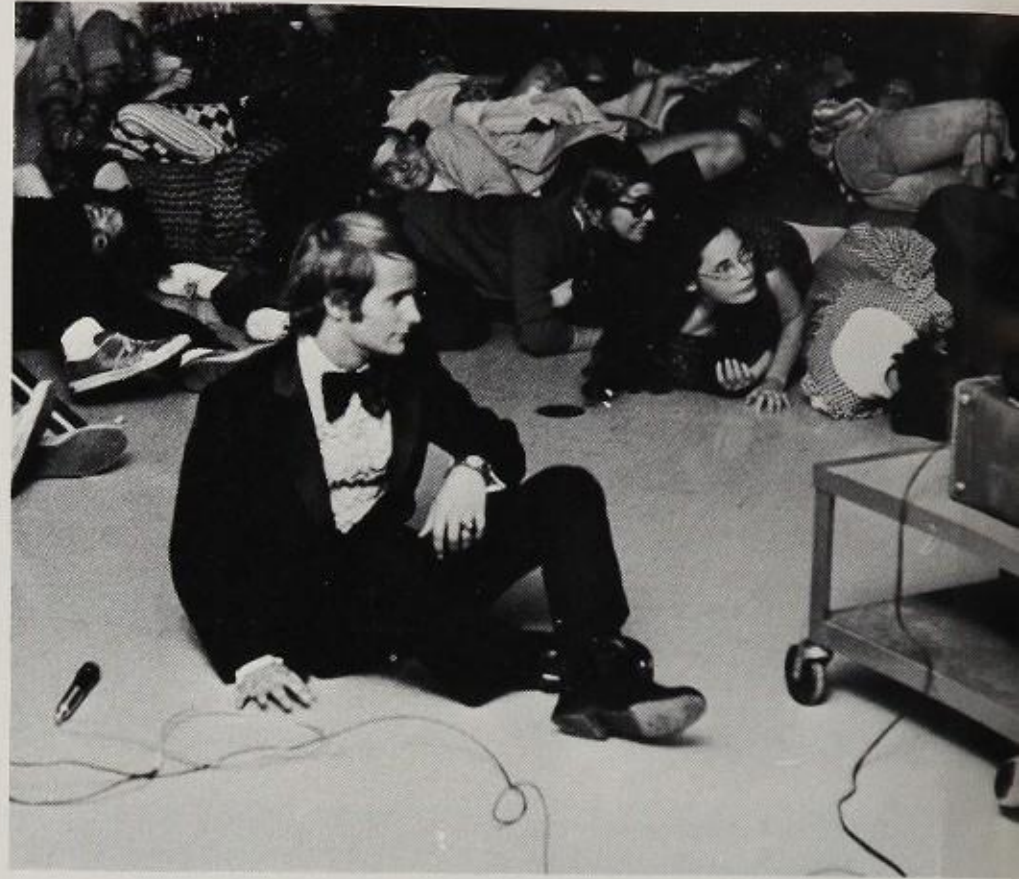

Several days later, people were disgruntled about the lack of music and began to complain that they couldn't dance very well to Lawrence Welk. The junior class, being in agreement, hastily came up with a band, and Son of Prom was born. Everyone was satisfied, and last year's prom now has the distinction of being the only dance ever to have a sequel. It adds a touch of class to the proceedings. . .

slide shows to guitar music--that's the senior variety show

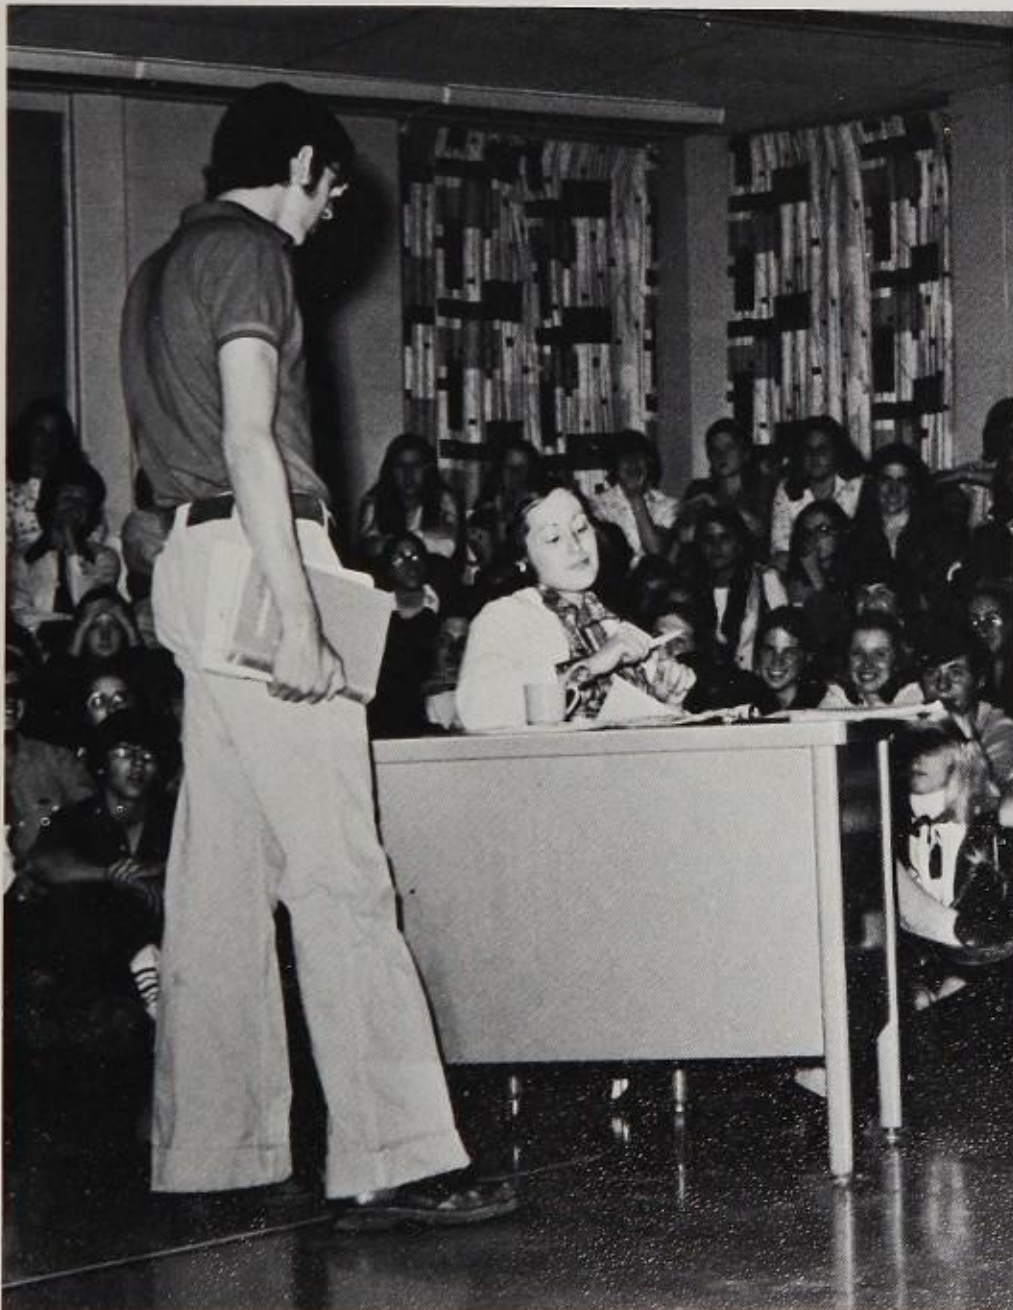

Yes, the Senior Variety Show. Always fresh, always new. (Especially since new people produce it every year.) And such a variety of things to see. On one hand we see Mitch Kartalia and Lisa Patience do a Spanish dance, and what a dance it was! Along the same lines we hear some self-composed guitar music (no, it wasn't played during the Spanish dance).

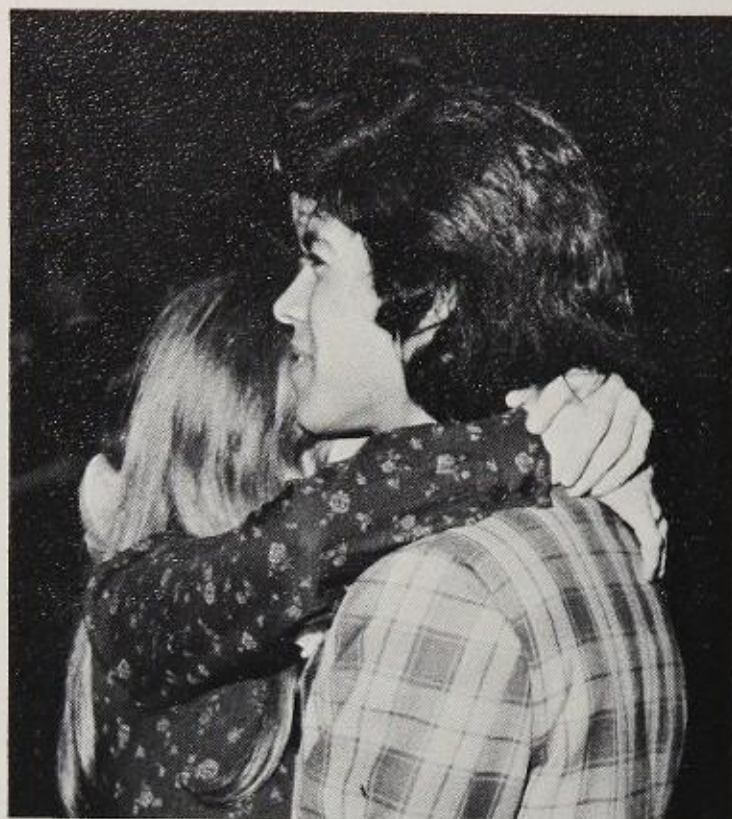

On the other hand, there is the humorous side to the Senior Variety Show. We marvel at the way cheerleading tryouts have changed throughout the years, reaching a strange climax at the Senior Variety Show. Of course, there is the usual (!) freshman grilling, this time being a slide show presentation on freshman orientation.

All in all, the seniors were out to please--and they sure did.

dames dance transformed

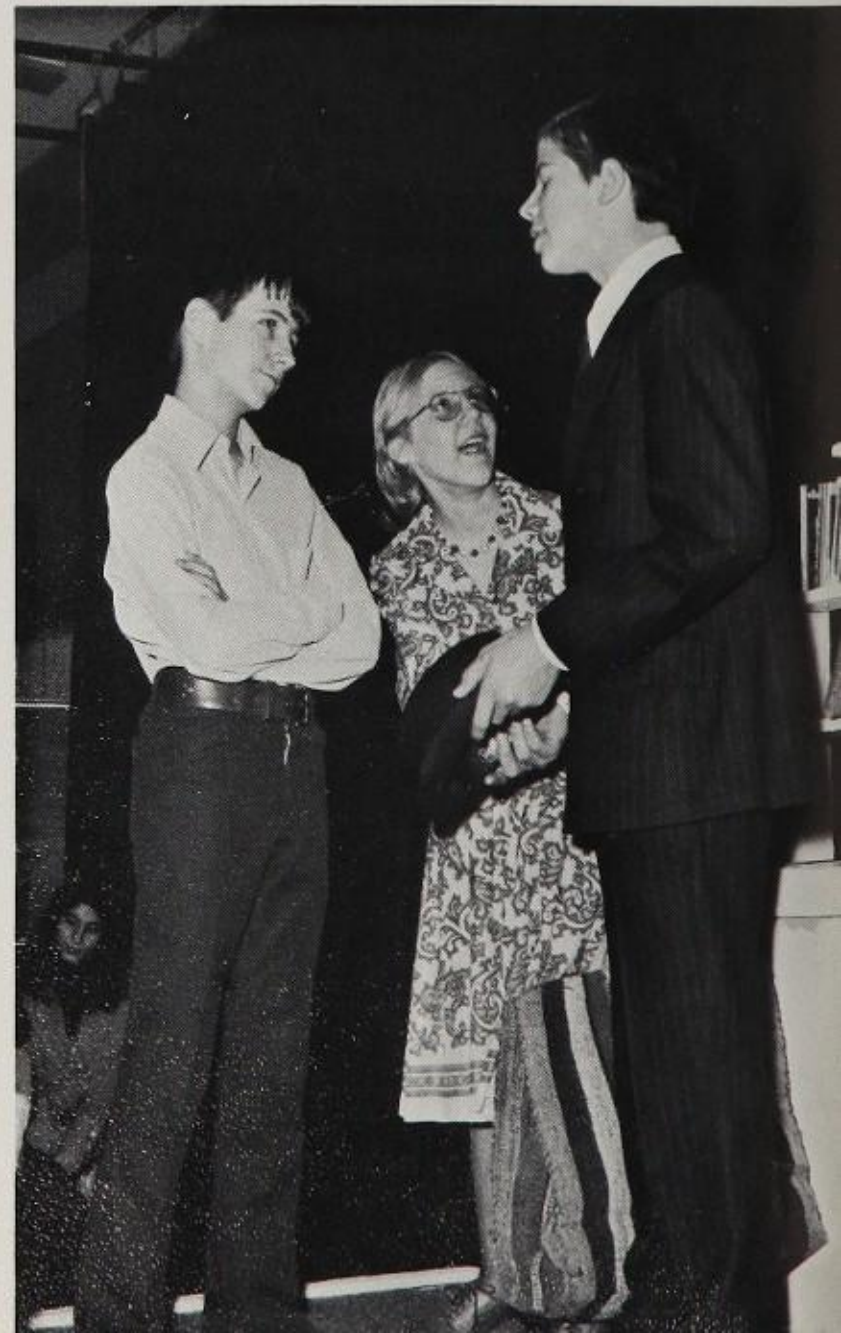

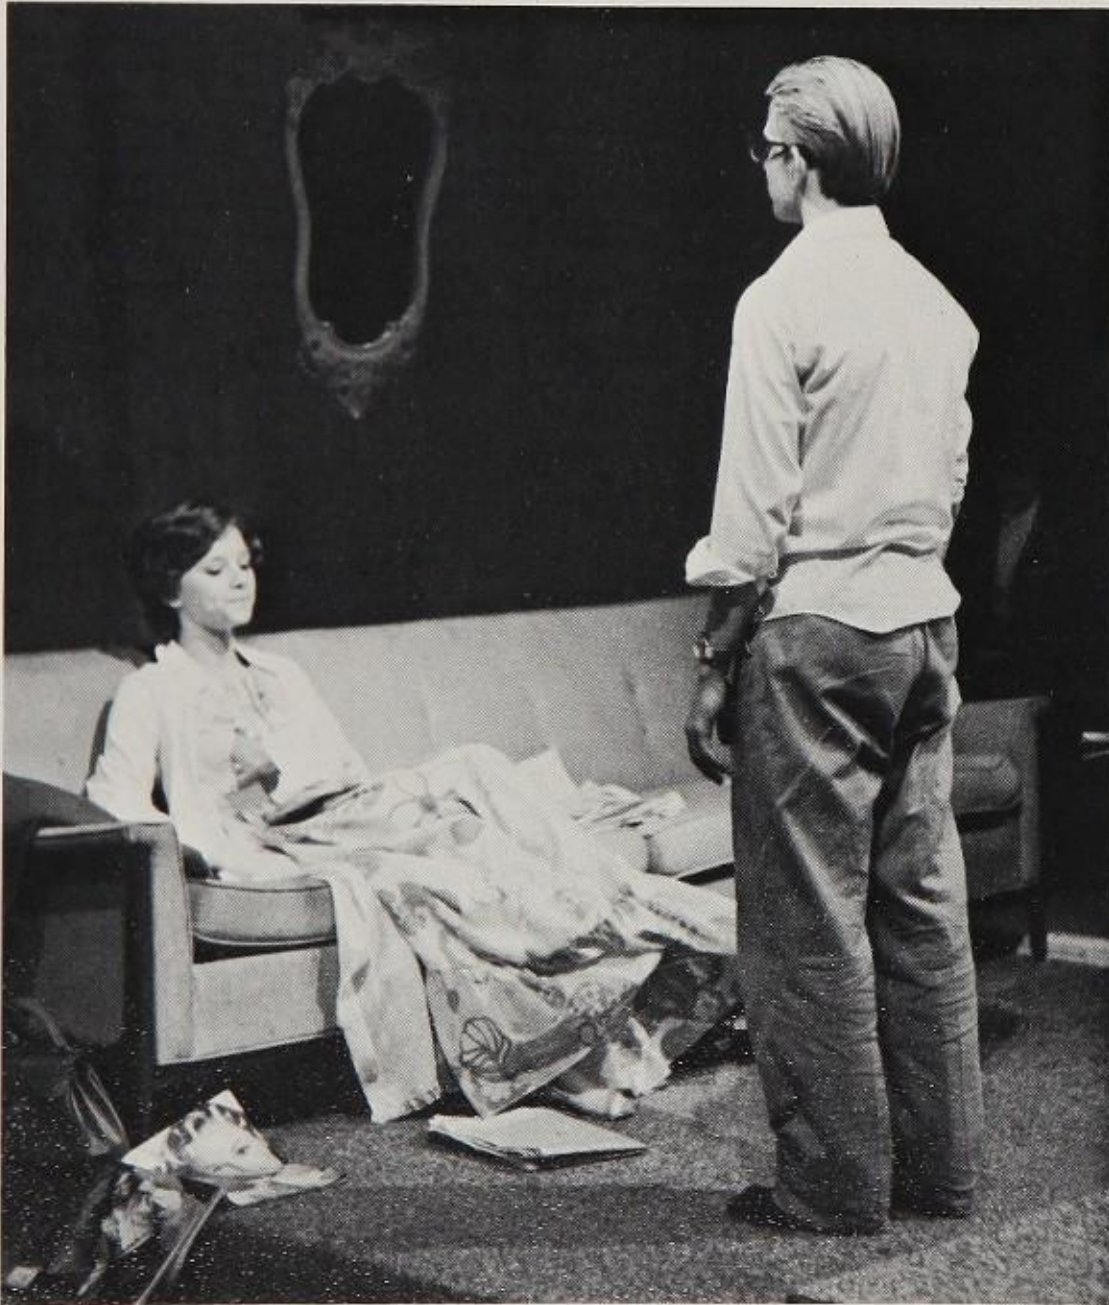

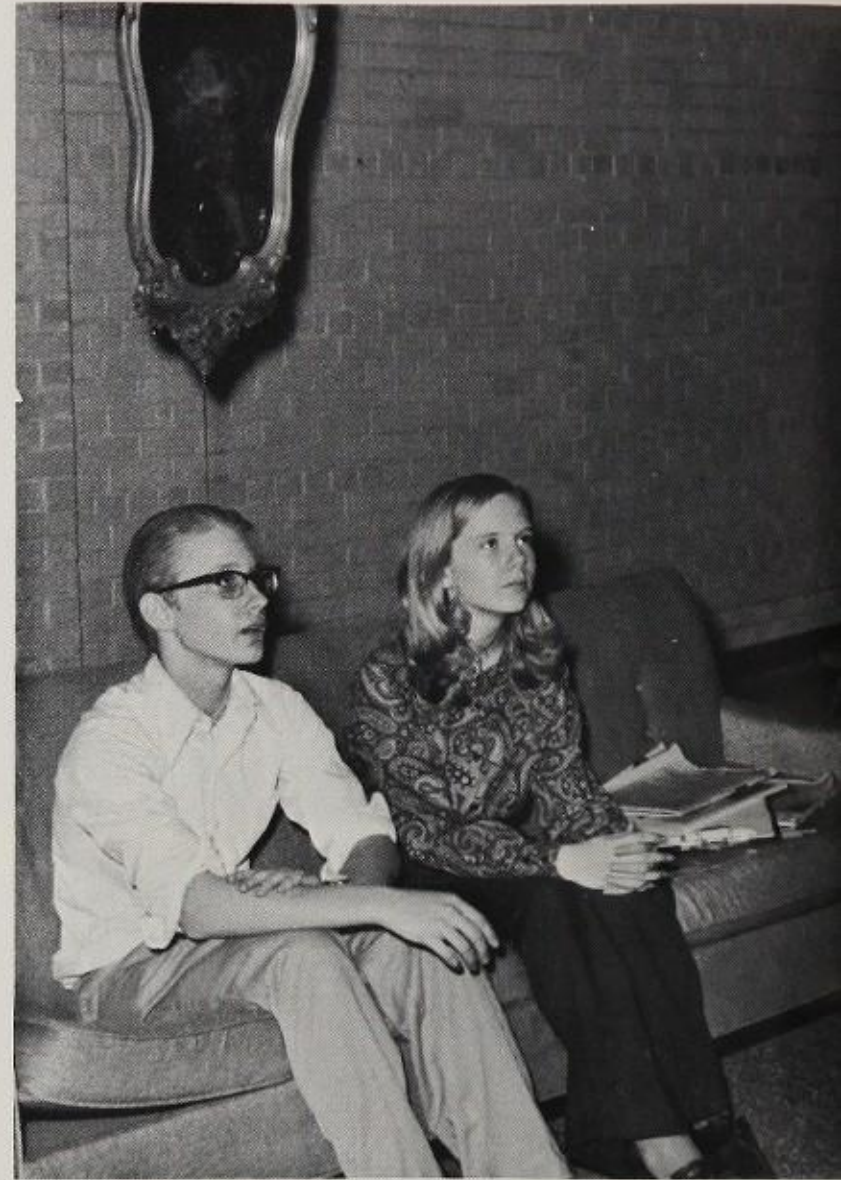

Mom can never really understand her daughter. Every year, about three weeks before St. Patrick's Day, the loving child sinks into a terrible depression. Her behavior becomes quite eccentric. All day she sits moodily in a corner talking to herself; any communication brings on violent hysterics. Mom doesn't really worry even when her daughter stops eating; it's a part of growing up, she supposes. Then one day everything changes. Susan flies home with wild eyes and giggles uncontrollably all night. At midnight, Mom hears a ghostly chuckle from behind closed doors and begins to seriously wonder if her child is all right. The next day Mom finds out what really happened. Susan has asked a boy to Dames Dance! This discovery is confirmed when Susan's date calls to ask what she's wearing (he doesn't want them to clash). All is tense until Dames Dance actually occurs, then Mom breathes a sigh of relief. She knows her daughter will eventually recover. After all, it's only once a year.

“the hobbit” has its share of dragons, too

Hobbits do not like adventures. Not in the least. And it's the same for Bilbo Baggins (John Douglas), a seemingly typical Hobbit, until Gandalf (Ken Kesey) and a variety of dwarves convince Bilbo to try an adventure out for size (an adventure nothing less than a treasure hunt.) It takes much coercion, but they do it.

Convincing him to go was the easy part. The roughest part of the journey lies ahead. First of all, there are the anything-eaters, especially dwarf-eaters, Bert, Essie, and Tom, played by Dan Austin, Grace McMullen, and Laurie Mandernach. Later during his journey he encounters the Elven Queen (Karen Ruffing), who also happens to be after the treasure.

Of course, a dragon named Smaug (Anne Gilbert) is guarding the treasure--a dragon that can be killed only with a special sword. Bilbo and friends overcome this obstacle, make amends with the Elven Queen, who normally is not very friendly, and live happily ever after.

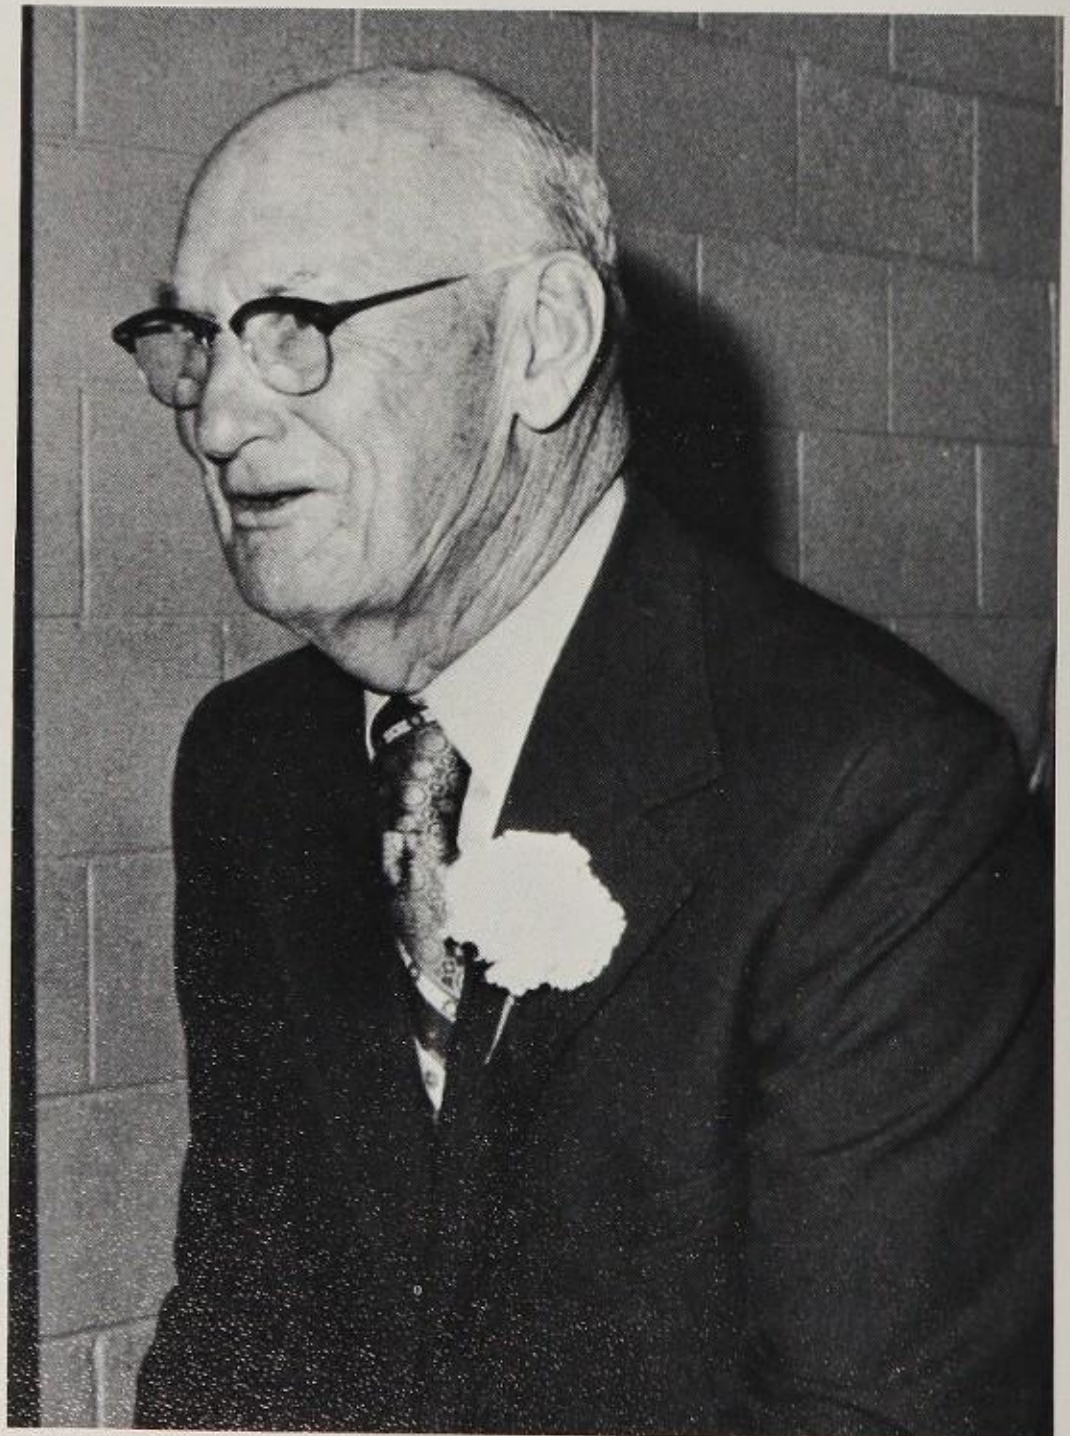

dedication to Franklin C. Thomas

Sears Hallett, Sherin Meroni, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin C. Thomas, Grace Wandke, Corliss Anderson

"The Barrington High School is gratefully dedicated to Mr. Franklin C. Thomas, Superintendent of Schools, 1944-1958. Under his leadership this high school was established to serve the entire Barrington community. We honor his outstanding love for students, his commitment to Barrington, and his contagious Christian spirit. His example is an inspiration to all of us." - October 6, 1974 -

The above wording is taken from the plaque which is displayed in the auditorium lobby of the Barrington High School.

and homecoming finally comes to an end after a long night and day

After weeks of preparation, and days of all night parties, the day everyone had been waiting for finally appeared. But it might as well not have come, for it was the dreariest and the wettest homecoming ever produced. And although scattered showers prevailed through the day, the rain never quite dampened the holiday spirit. Barrington was Barrington and homecoming stood fast. The Bronchos clobbered the Warriors...

...and finally-at last. Weary souls dragged themselves and their partners onto the dance floor. The events preceding - mere images in a far-off corridor. And the future, what future? It couldn't be found. A few hours later, when the band burned out, one saw only people collapsed by the wall.

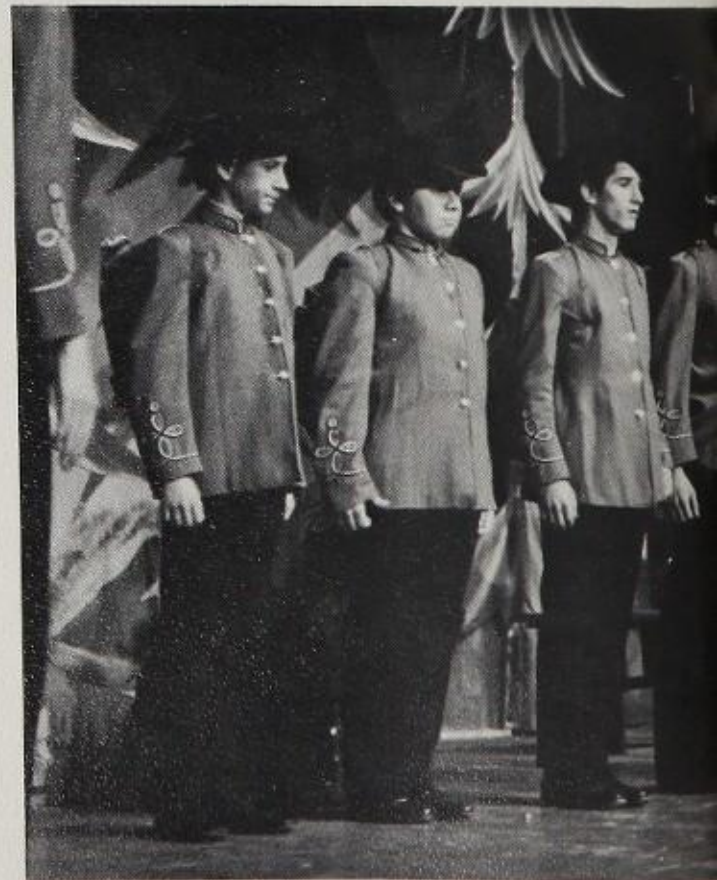

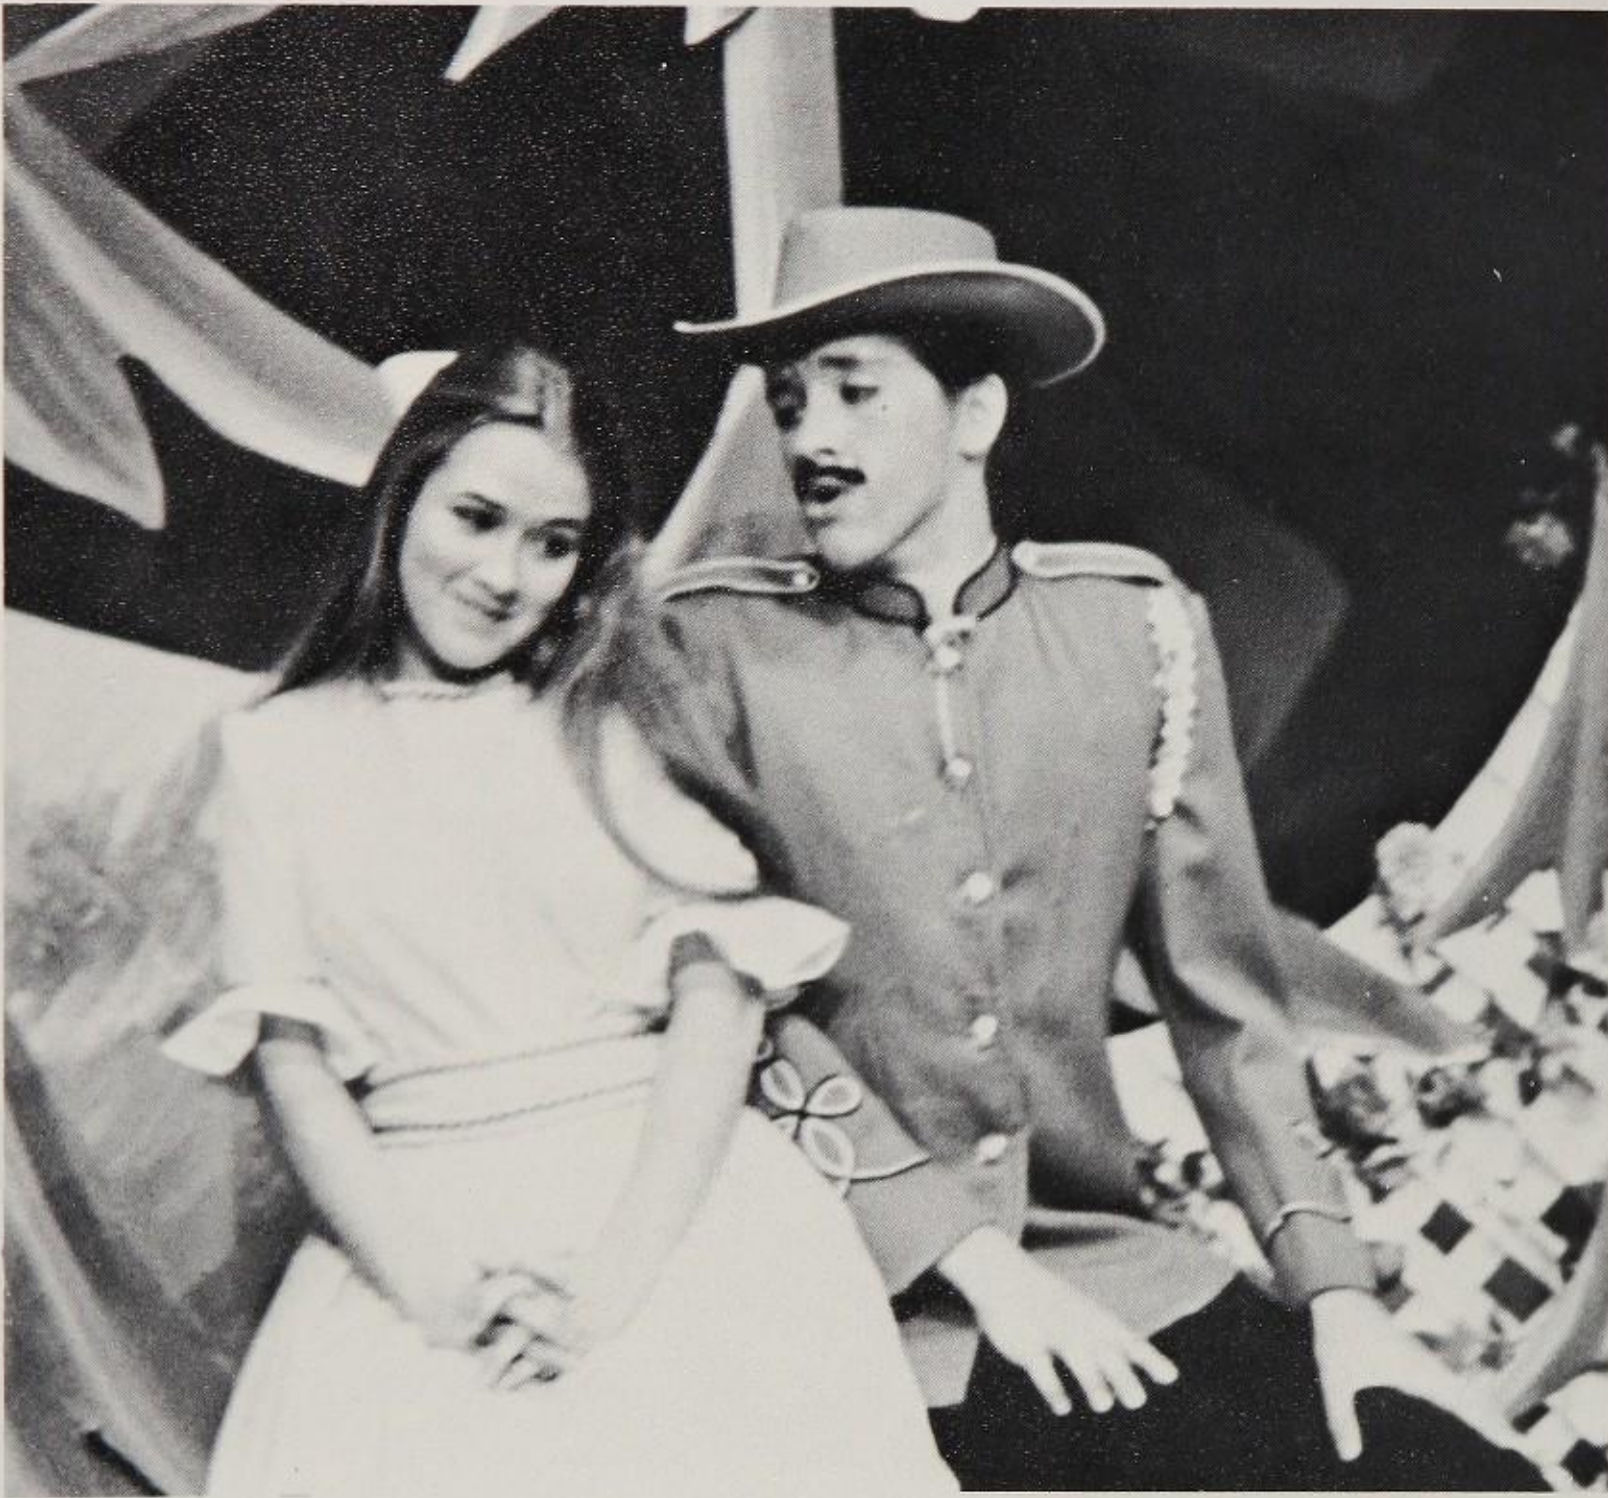

Cindy,

when are you inviting me over to your pool? (JUST KIDDING)

I am really glad that I got to sit by you in Lang. & Comp., because I got to know you better. If I had not of sit by you - it would have been too boring to stand, but you made it fun. Thanks for inviting me to your party - I had fun. You are really a fun & nice kid & I hope we keep in touch throughout the year -

little mary sunshine

brightens the hearts of many Little Mary Sunshine (Megan Sullivan) is just the average Colorado girl who owns a modest inn bought with "the meager savings she earned selling homemade cookies." However, she couldn't keep up with the mortgage payments. Little Mary is the adopted daughter of Chief Brown Bear (Steve Hanson), a typical Indian chief one sees in early twentieth-century Colorado.

Mary and her boarders are not alone, they soon find out. Captain "Big Jim" Warrington (Ken Klepzig), his not so bright corporal, Bill Jester (John Douglas), and the rest of the gallant rangers suddenly appear on the scene. As we find out, the Captain has a very secret mission to attend to, leaving the corporal in charge. Later, the corporal is sent on his own mission--to hunt down Yellow Feather (Dan Austin) who is terrorizing the countryside. All thought Yellow Feather, the son of Chief Brown Bear, to be dead, but he has suddenly reappeared.

In the meantime, Corporal Jester becomes the adoptive son of Chief Brown Bear, and finds out that the Chief keeps his horse in his teepee. (Doesn't everybody?)

Later, Captain Warrington returns, just as Yellow Feather is terrorizing Mary and her boarders. Mary is saved by the brave captain in a fierce struggle.

To make a happy situation even happier, the government decides to give back the land that rightfully belongs to Chief Brown Bear. And, wouldn't you know it, Mary's inn is on the land. Like any adoptive father would do, Chief Brown Bear gives Mary the land for her precious little inn. Nothing could have been a better conclusion to a typical episode in the life of Little Mary Sunshine.

It is so hard to write in your book because I have so much to say but I don't have the faintest idea how to write or anything. To start with super, super.
Thank-you for everything → for listening to all my problems & all my good stuff too - gosh I must have bored you to death... → also thank you for ways having me swimming. → thank-you for the two parties I fully enjoy myself they both were so much fun - I wish that you & Eric would have been on better terms but most of all thank-you for being my friend. I don't know if you know what mean by being friends → a friend to me is a person that I admire & look-up to & cherish & enjoy their company - a kind of girl that has a unique personality of her own. A friend is a person who never talks behind your back or stabs you in back but instead looks up for her for you. Cindi - that is what you are to me - a friend most people I know I consider acquaintances - almost everyone - people who you say "Hi - How are ya" or "What cha been doing" Cindi you are a friend. Most people know me today I forget about me tomorrow but you never have done that → I consider myself so lucky to know you.
I must confess I have gotten jealous of you over a few things but that only gives me more reasons to admire & look up to you. gosh Cindi? you'll never know how much you mean to me.

Oh Cindi - just think of all the stuff we've done together - oo babies
Wendy Ward!!! → Remember all those stuck up girls → Christmas seal even - now back the rides home → laughing attacks, feeling sick, screaming attacks, being followed!!! Didn't we get BEAUTIFUL. You already are!

Puddles - in the car - Signal Hill → stall out babies!!! Or on our bikes → riding through knee deep puddles with bugs & bare feet & seaweed & who Knows what. !!!

B.B.B.'s - oo babies - are we even! - especially bums → Jim Just kidding → we did have some great times over here and know it is your turn to come to my house could be C.C.B.'s (California Coast Bums) → I can see it now → look-out! Cindi + Robin speeds trouble... giggles & good times.

Cindi - I want to wish you the best of luck next year - with school & Enjoy friends & at home!!! Stay the way you are & I can guarantee you'll have the major problems - only maybe some queen girl begging you all the time ⇒ Guess who?

See you soon Cindi → until then Jim gonna miss you Love you Robin

The injury-hampered Pony football team gritted it's teeth and survived unsurmountable odds in dedication towards the ultimate goal: an undefeated season. Although Bryan Amis led the soph attack with 20 of Barrington's 32 TD's, which posted him in a post-season varsity stint for the play-offs, the ponies concluded a fine year with a 6-2-1 record. Meanwhile, on the frosh battlefield, Eric Shellenback led the Frosh "A" to a 6-3 total and the B-team finished undefeated Football. It's American. And it's dominant. With two pro leagues, and various college conferences, everyone wants to get an earlier start at the sport. Through the years, it has become established as a major sector of high school athletics. And consequently, the ultimate goal is winning.

Barrington is fortunate. With their football team, the town traveled to new heights. After Frank Shellenback shattered numerous records, both rushing and scoring, the Bronchos captured conference, rambling through their opponents like bison through ancient prairies, and proceeded to march on to the semi-final duel of the newly instituted IHSA prep-football play-offs. Besides the outstanding accomplishments, the Bronchos placed seven of their number on all-conference roster and three on the all-area.

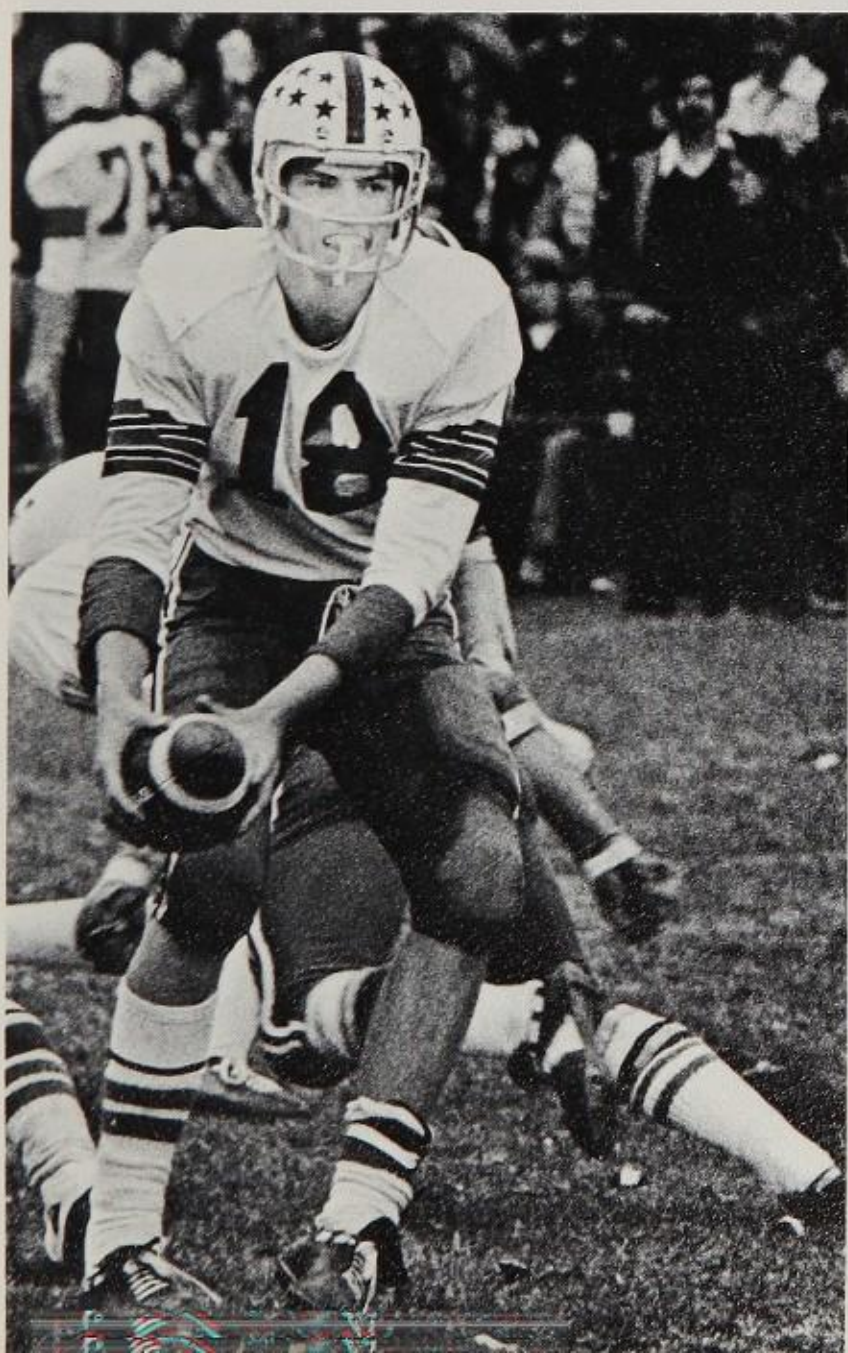

All-in-all it was a good year for the Bronchos. Determined to win with dedication towards their goal, the 1974 Bronchos truly were an outstanding team in both spirit and effort. It's going to be difficult for next years Bronchos to beat them.

"Game, set, match and state title goes to the Barrington Fillie tennis team."

The above isn't as highly improbable as you might think. Coach Scranton put together her knowledge and the skill and determination of a couple dozen tennis buffs to capture seventh place in the girl's state tennis tourney. Led by the doubles combination of Morgan-Owen and Gaffigan-Gregory and the superb singles play of Amy Bash and Vicki Miller, the Fillie tennis team completed an eleven dual meet schedule with a 10-1 record. They also stole the district crown from the highly competitive host Crystal Lake team. Fortunately, only one player was lost through graduation, so the Fillies will undoubtedly be even better.

Throughout the summer, cross country runners spend countless hours running countless miles in preparation for the fall season. And this year more than any other, the time and energy spent was worth their while. This year's harriers recaptured conference, along with the Rolling Meadows Invitational. And it was all brought about by the consistent running of Barrington's top three: tri-captains Greg Fath, Dave Bergen and Dave Price. Of course, they had to have some assistance, provided mainly by frosh Dave Trestik and soph Rod Wade. Project yourself into the future and watch Trestik and Wade cross the finish line to capture the state title for the Broncos. It is possible.

"What is that those girls are doing?"

"Field hockey."

"Is that any relation to ice hockey?"

"I suppose so. The only difference I know of is that guys generally play ice hockey and girls play field hockey."

"Well, they must be rotten if they can't play ice hockey."

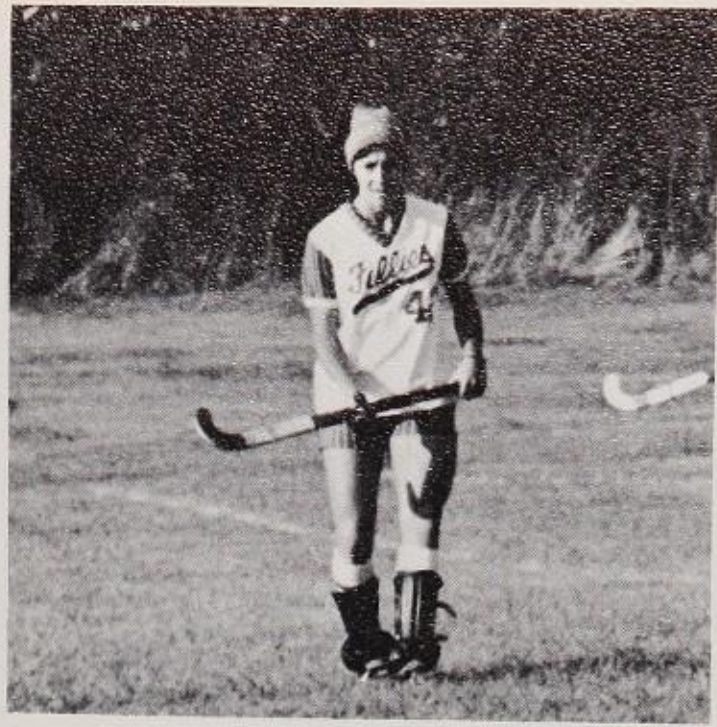

"Not really. This year's field hockey team posted a 7-3 record."

"Great. Are you sure that was the girls?"

"Absolutely. With outstanding players like Donna Bushelle leading the team and the superb coaching of Coach Swanson, it's hard to miss."

"I guess. When did you say their next match is?"

golfers storm thru competition

For the past few years, Barrington golf fans have heard the same redundant phrase again and again. But it's kind of hard not to repeat it again, especially with the phenomenal 1974 Fall Golf Team.

Once again they are, by far, the best golf team that Barrington has ever had.

Following last spring's highly successful golf team, this fall's Broncs had a little rebuilding to do with three outstanding golfers graduating. But nothing destroys the spirit and determination of a Broncho. Together the golfers trudged through countless sand traps, over a myriad of obstacles, and saved par innumerable times in search of their goal. And along the way they picked up an 18-1 season, a conference crown, second in district, and the sectional title before placing second in state, a measly two strokes behind the winner. Although the Bronchos finished a mere second one bright light shone through the clouds, Gary Hallberg, the new IHSA state golf champion.

Of course, next year will be even better despite losing talented seniors like captain Bart Allen, Tom Kolder, and Tom Retzlaff.

In the first year of a state volleyball tourney for girls, Barrington's superb Fillie team made it all the way into the sectionals before losing to the eventual state champs, New Trier East.

But the Fillies had done a fantastic job during the regular season, posting an impressive overall record. And next year should prove even more spectacular for the girls because only a mere handful of the team will graduate.

barrington b-ballers break even

Yes, folks, the 1974-75 Bronc B-ball team broke even. Eventually! The team broke even with eleven wins and twelve losses overall (excluding regional play) and with seven wins and six losses in conference play.

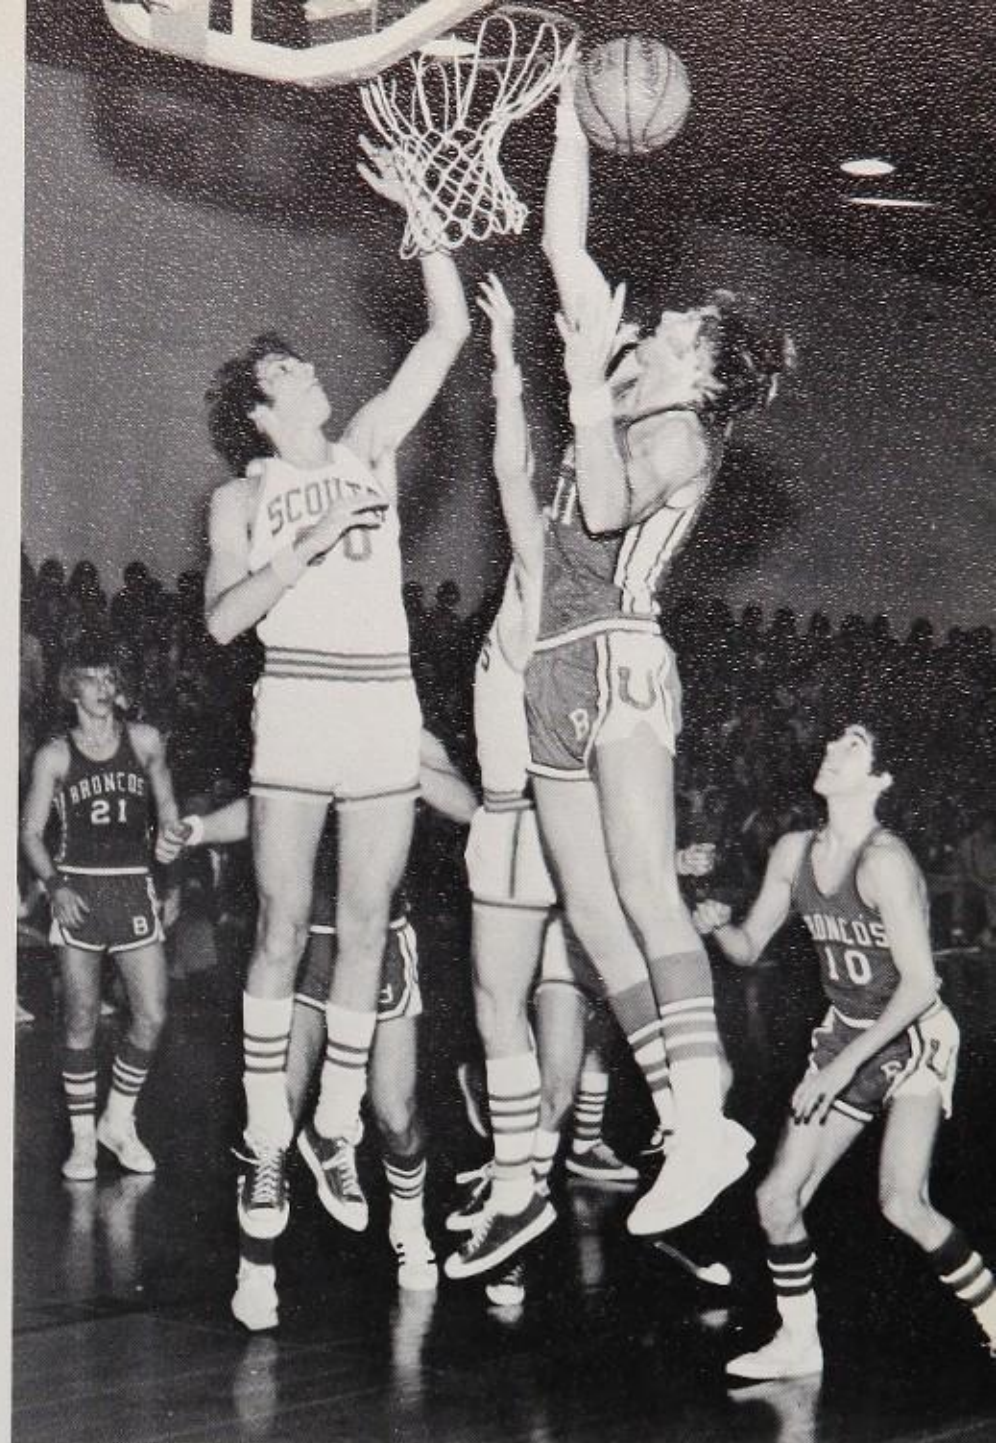

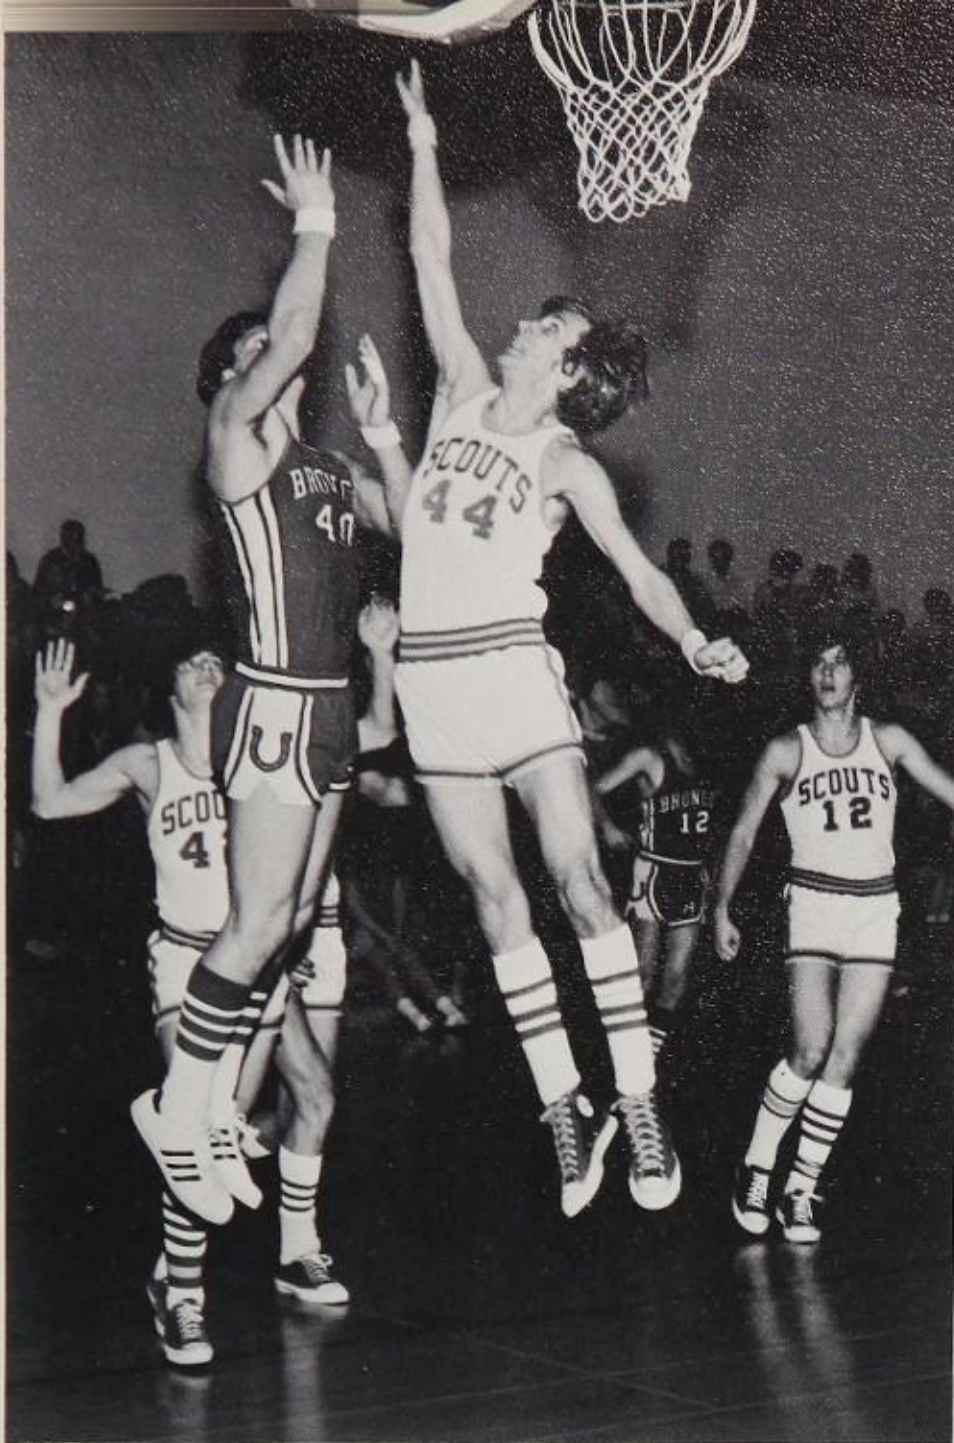

Although the team wasn't that fantastic, part of the problem might be attributed to the fact that three of Barrington's starting give, Art Peters, Scott Jensen, and Ron Zilkowski, rushed off the semi-final gridiron ripping off helmets and shoulder pads and donning B-ball jerseys. That's got to have some effect, especially with the first game a brief ten days away. As usual the Broncos met the challenge.

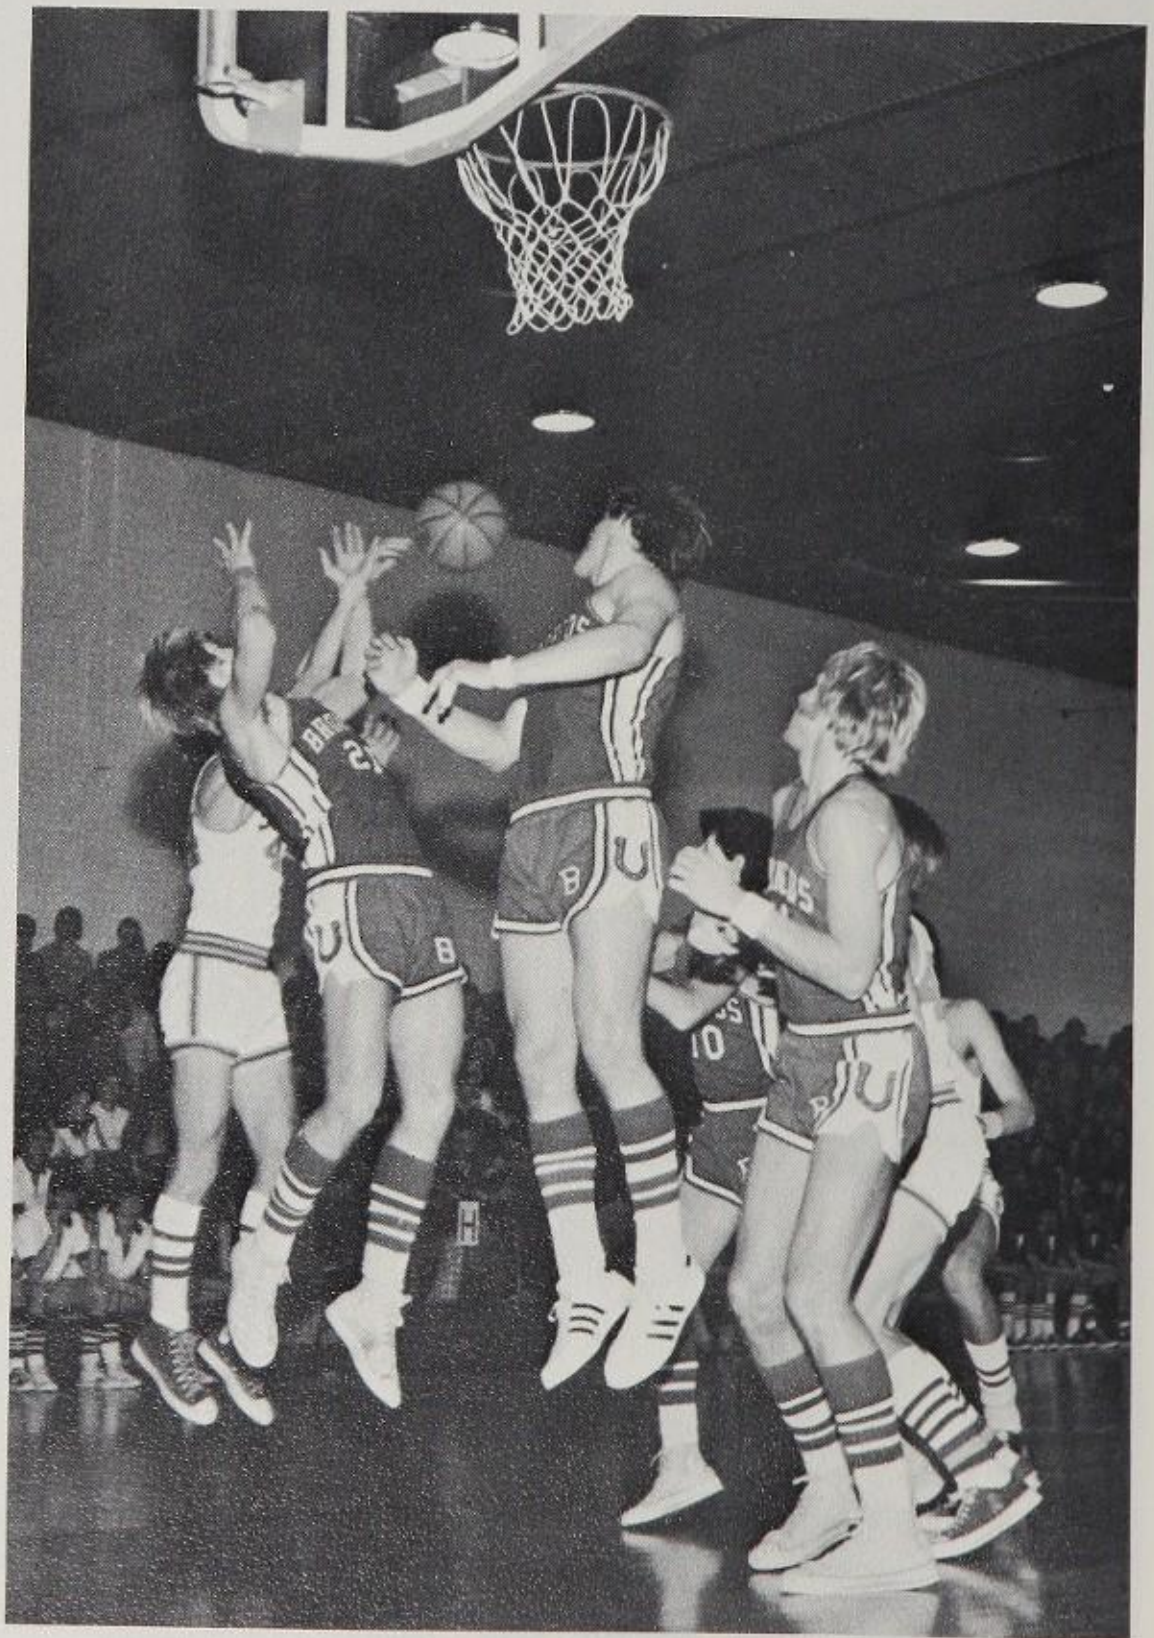

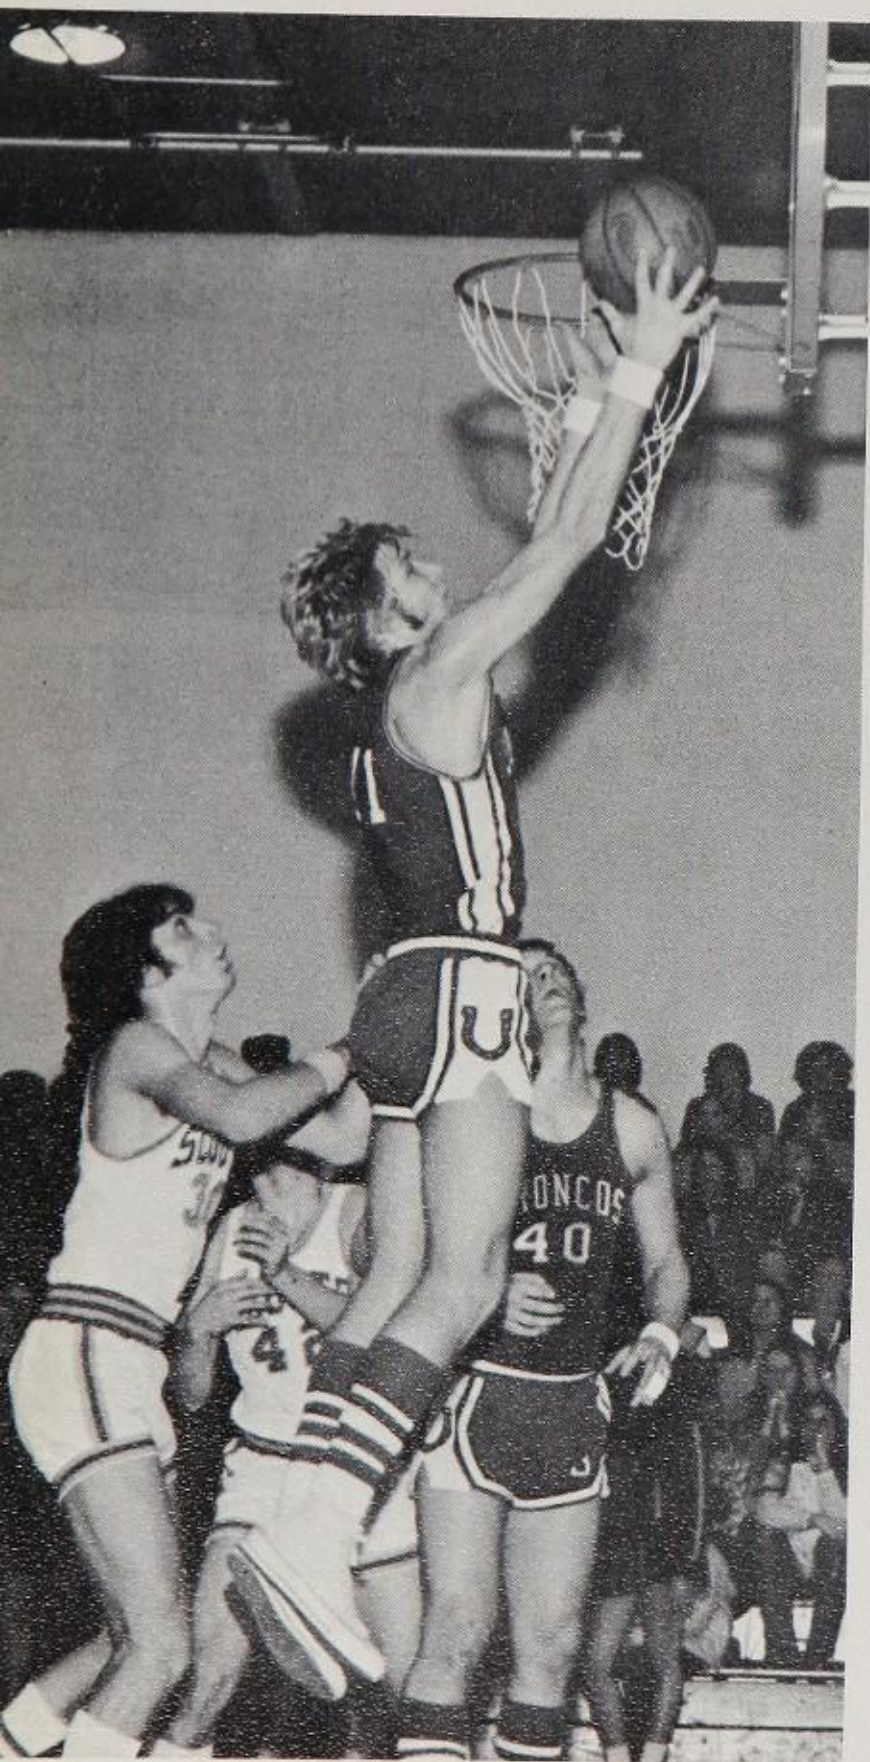

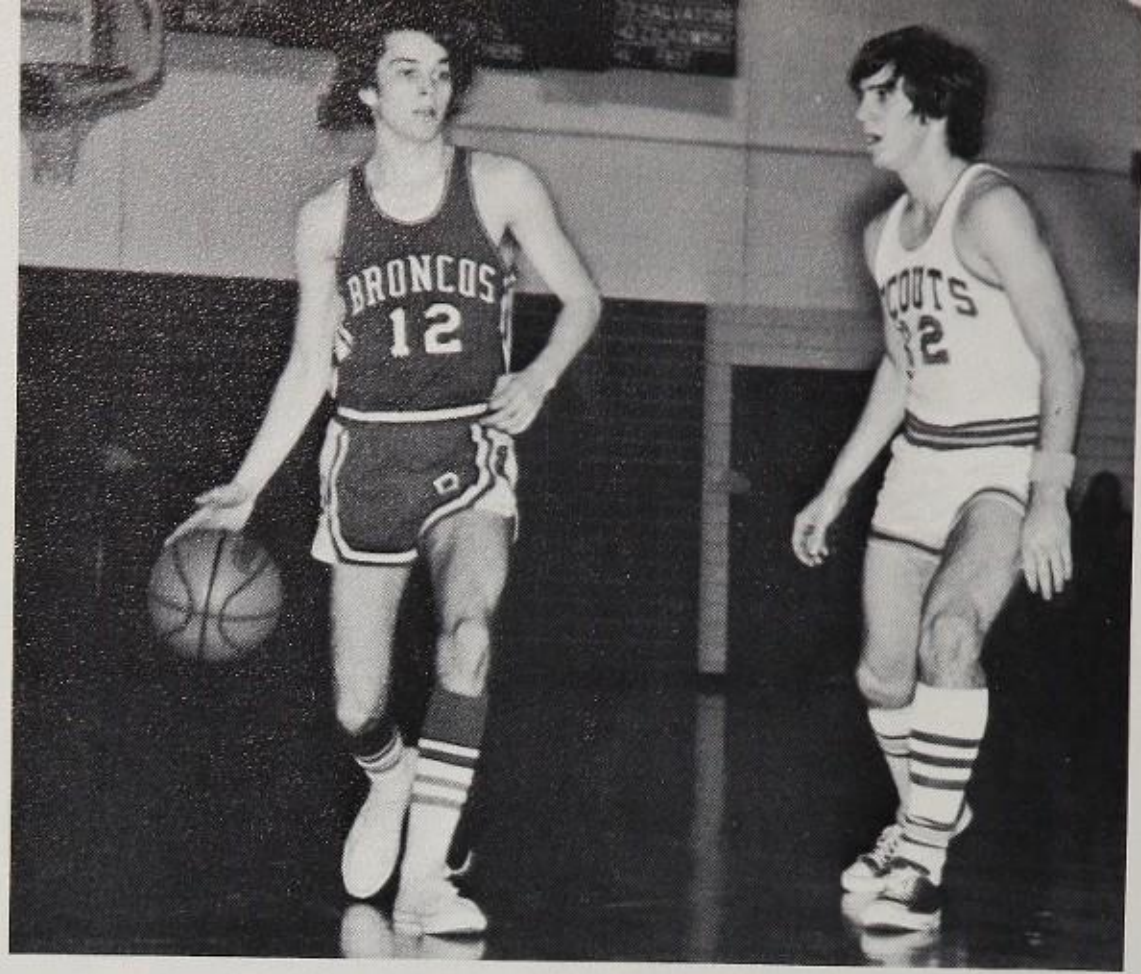

Led by lead-scorer and all-conference John Tichy, the Broncos came up from the murky subterranean depths into the limelight. By the end of the season, they were able to keep their heads atop the unfathomable water finishing in the fourth place conference slot.

Next year the Broncos can be better. Jerry Rossman, Dave Mata, and Paul Driskill return along with a 14-9 sophomore squad. And maybe, just maybe, the Barrington basketball fans can have their "long-awaited-for" winners.

Barrington's gymnastic team finally did it. They finally made it to a higher degree of performance. You could even go as far as to say they graduated.

Indeed this year's team was a young one but it's happened before. R.C. Treat, varsity captain, through his own effort helped a growing squad mature to the varsity performance level.

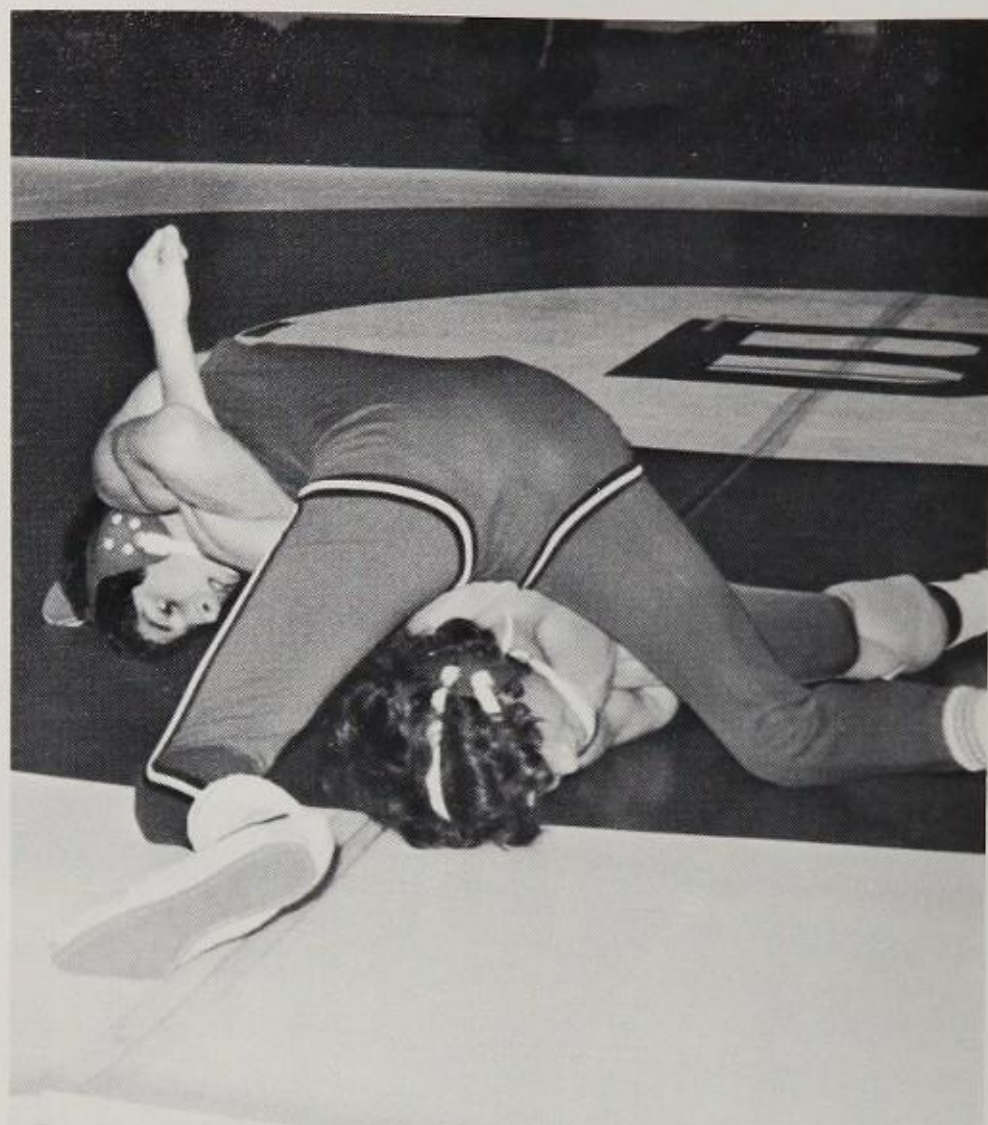

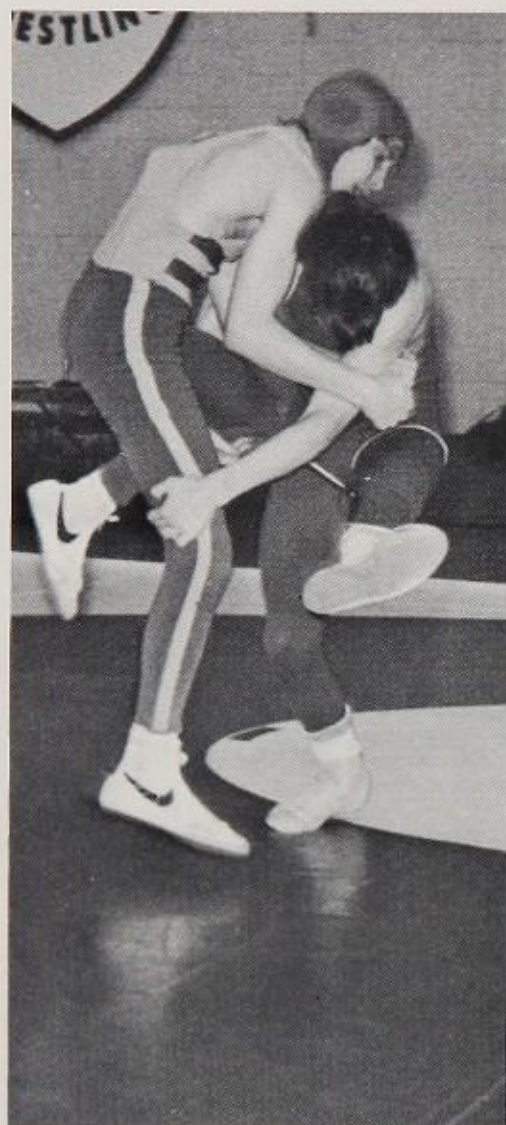

Determination and dedication tossed the gymnasts into realms of glory as they finished second in the conference at Mundelein. Leading the team to one of its goals were: Craig Bopp, tramp artist, R.C. Treat, ring specialist, and Bob Blanke, expert tumbler.

Next year should prove ever more prosperous for the bounding Broncos as most of the squad will return.

bronc grapplers conquer conference

Barrington's wrestling team finally did it. Once again those glorified grapplers have managed an utterly astounding feat. They have managed to submerge all other conference contestants in a bloody waterbath and emerge as the lone conference superstars for the first time in over a decade.

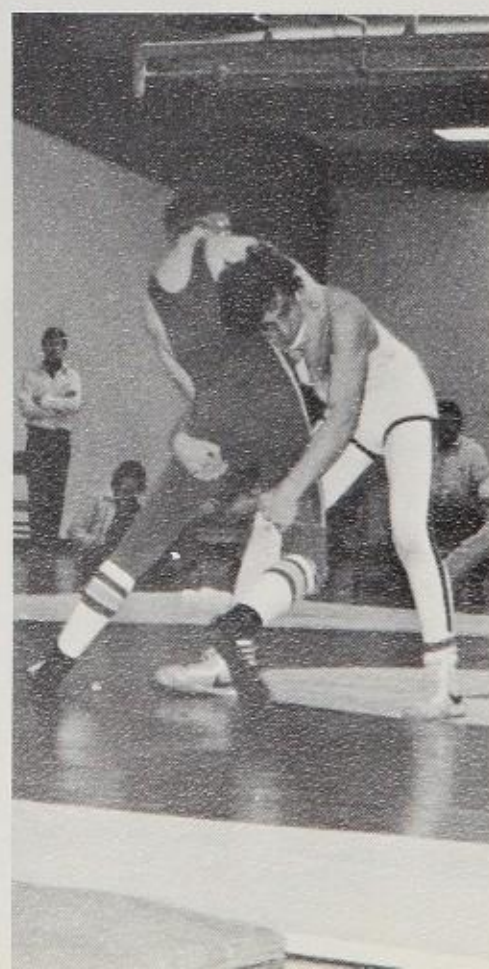

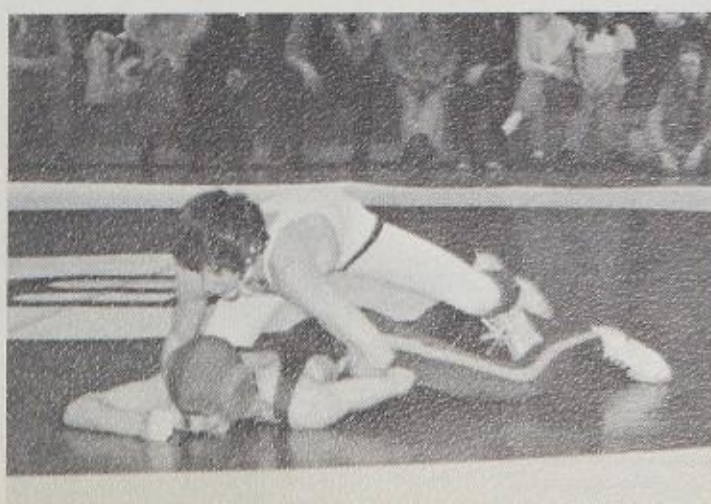

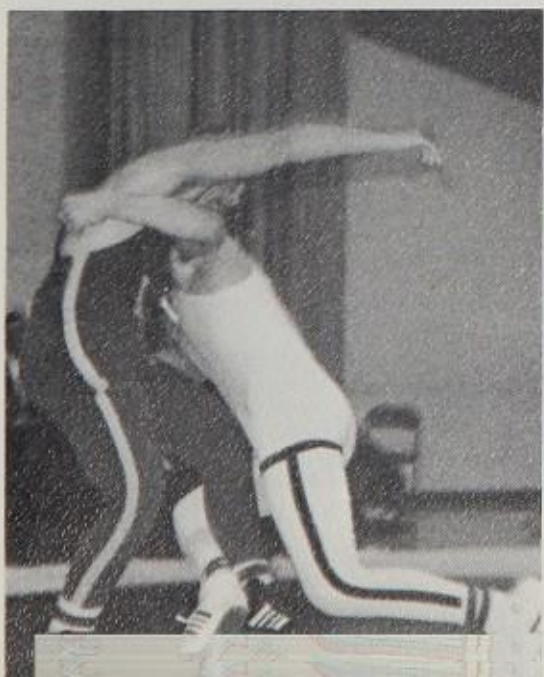

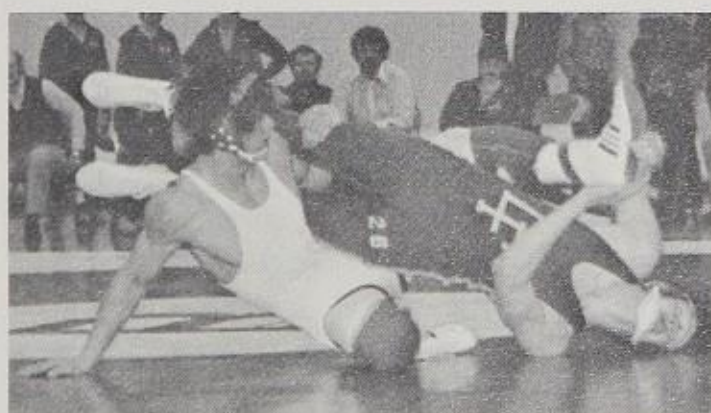

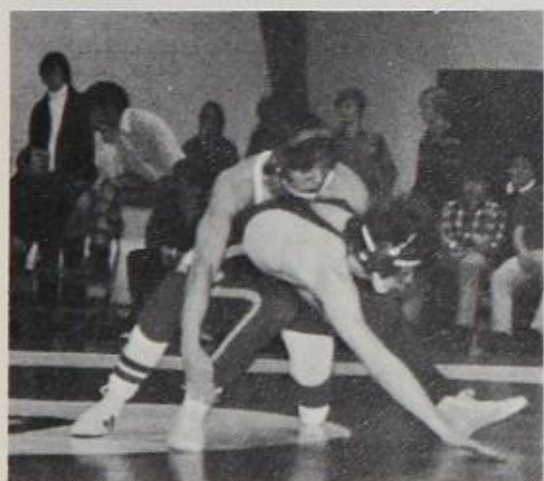

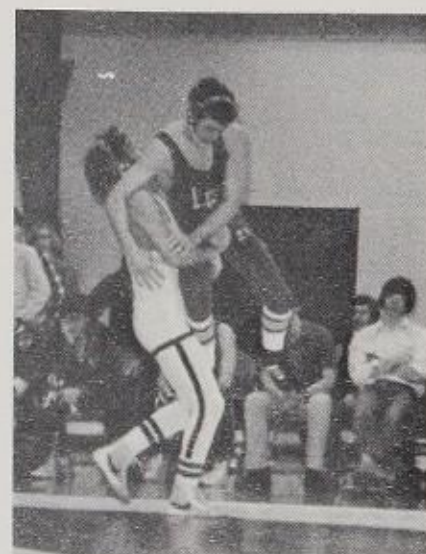

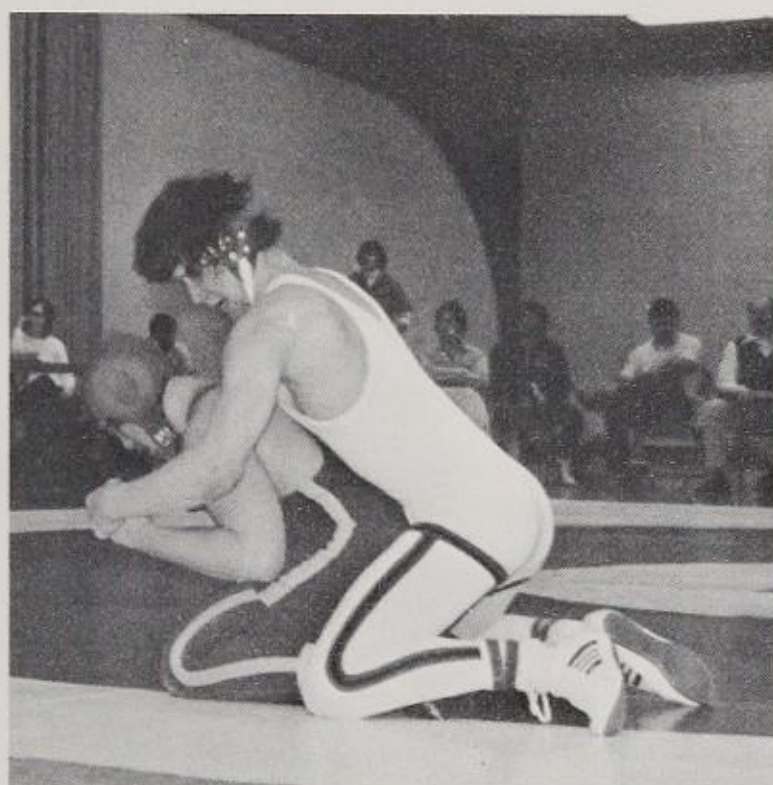

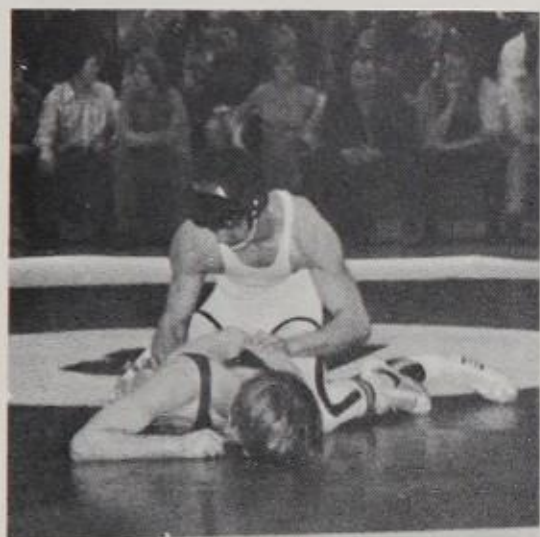

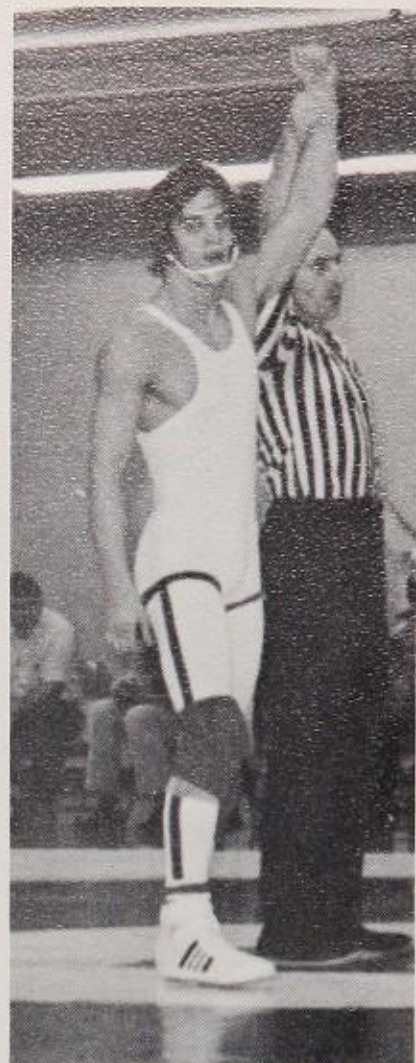

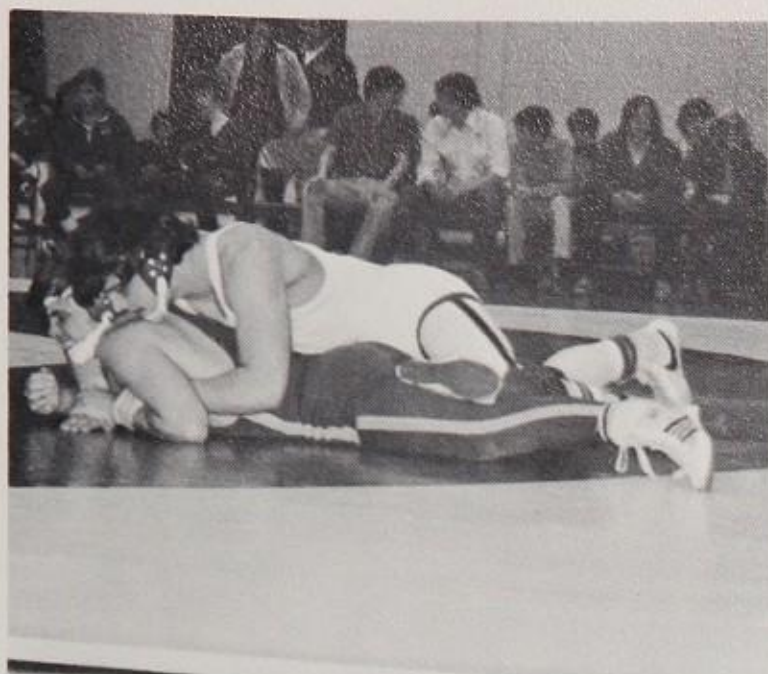

Lead by their superior coach, Alex Kristine, and under co-captains Brian Erbach, Bernie Ask, Mark Ramsland and Dirk VandenBergh, the Broncos rolled to a 9-0 conference record and sailed through the conference meet with insurmountable ease, leaving their nearest foe a distant 35½ points behind.

colts and ponies beset foes

Pony power ranked high in the spring of '74 and you had better bet on this year's ponies to be just as good. Last year's ponies finished off the year with a 25-2 overall record. And with the use of such soph standouts as Carl Shellenback, Leo George, Roger Nowicke, and Joe Amato on his varsity, Coach Joe Plaskas has a lot to look forward too. Likewise for Coach Kirby Smith. Greats like Marty Therrien, Tom Mogle, Chuck Marshall, and Jay Stewart will join him from a fine frosh team.

For years, Coach Joe Plaskas has been turning out fantastically superb baseball teams. And this year is no exception. Perhaps they lost a few games. But they were determined not to let a few measly defeats get them down. Instead the players dedicated themselves towards winning as many contests as possible and played their hearts out, too. Although the ultimate goal (NSC Conference Championship) fell to the hands of one of countless foes, the Broncho machine strove onward. Next year will provide the necessary competition and Captain Rusty Meeks, a talented senior squad, and a formidable junior crop will have the ability to climb to the top of the NSC mountain.

Barrington's Fillie track team established themselves as a leading contender for the girls' state track title. The girls took all four dual meets, won two of three tri-meets and finished second in the Waukegan Invitational. Of course one shouldn't fail to mention their third place finish in district and freshman Donna Bushelle's superb individual effort, fifth in state for the 100-yard dash. Other outstanding members of the star-studded team were: Vicki Mullins, Lisa Hollensteiner, Kathy Bell, Carolyn Dugan, Robin Roethke, Pat Brugge, Dianna Trickey, Ellen Leslie, and Betsy Orkild. Imagine what the girls' track team will look like this year when all these girls and quite a few others return.

netters cop second in conference

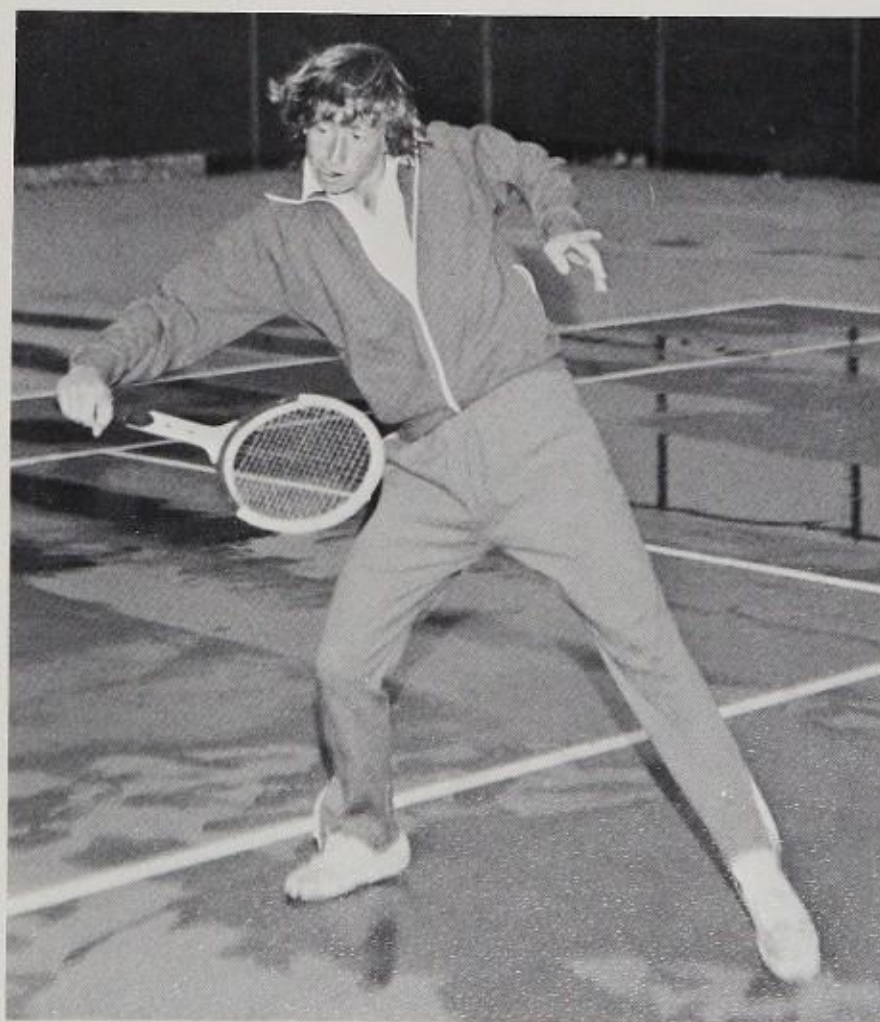

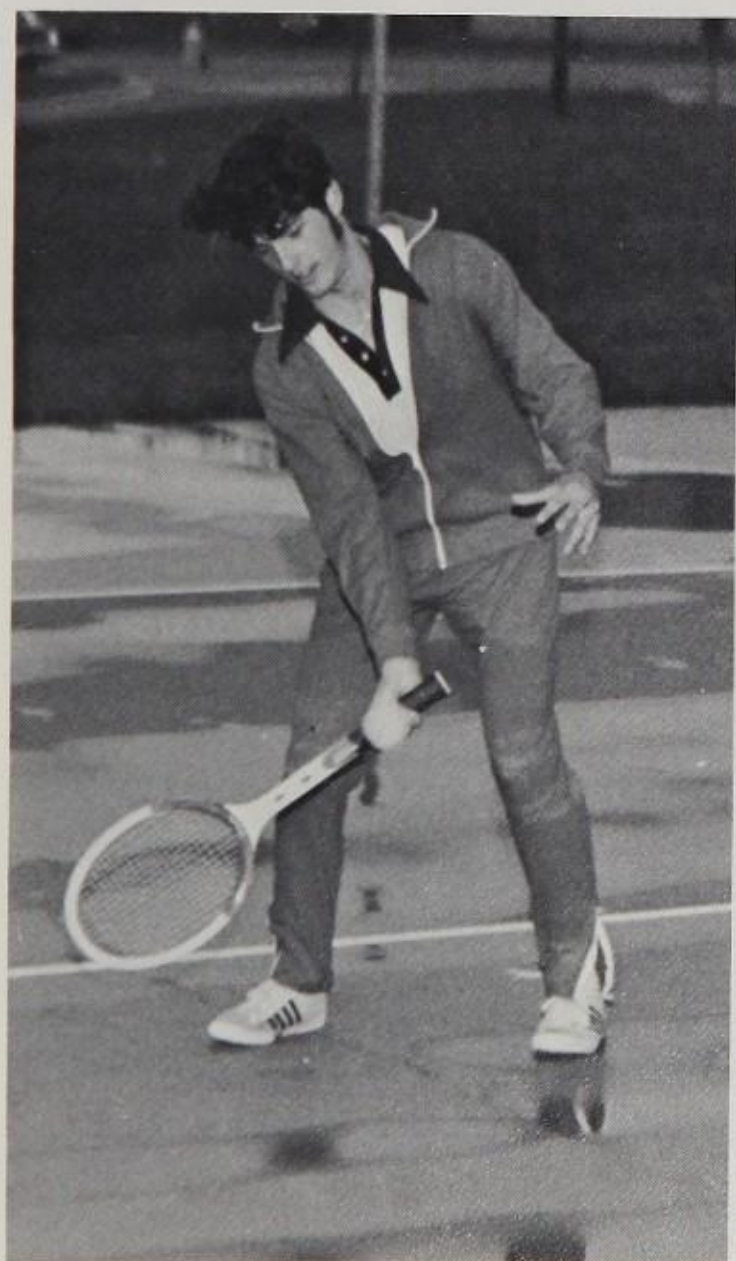

The Broncho tennis team concluded their spring season with an outstanding 24-5 dual meet record. It also marked the first time in BHS tennis history that the team played more than 22 dual matches. And through much skill and determination during the season, the youthful squad rallied their way to both second in conference and third in district. Mike Pendelton in no. 3 singles and the pairs of Olsen-Miller in no. 1 doubles and Burton-Dowdle in no. 2 doubles were the backbone to the Broncho attack. Next year's netters will have trouble topping this year's performance, but only one senior was lost through graduation. Who says they can't do it?

The spring of 1974 hosted a variety of outstanding interscholastic teams, one of which was the girls' softball team. Under the direction of Coach Devins, the girls drilled themselves to a solid 6-3 record. The determination of the team, as a whole, to unite and conquer, was spearheaded by two superb pitchers, MIP Deborah Owens and MVP Debbie Dunn. But they couldn't possibly have done the job alone. Next year, with most of the athletes returning, the Fillies look quite formidable.

conference-district-sectional

The spring of 1974 was a good one for Barrington's golf team. And although they faltered in the state meet, this was, by far, the best group of golfers to come out of Broncho history. Finishing the year with an 11-2 record and five major tournament victories, captain Scott Stahr had a lot to be proud of. Stand-out sophomore, Gary Hallberg, and MVP Stahr led the Broncos to their unprecedented wins of the conference, district and sectional crowns. And would you believe that next year will be even better? Only three Broncos graduated out of the top six. A most formidable group of determined golfers to say the least.

trackmen send

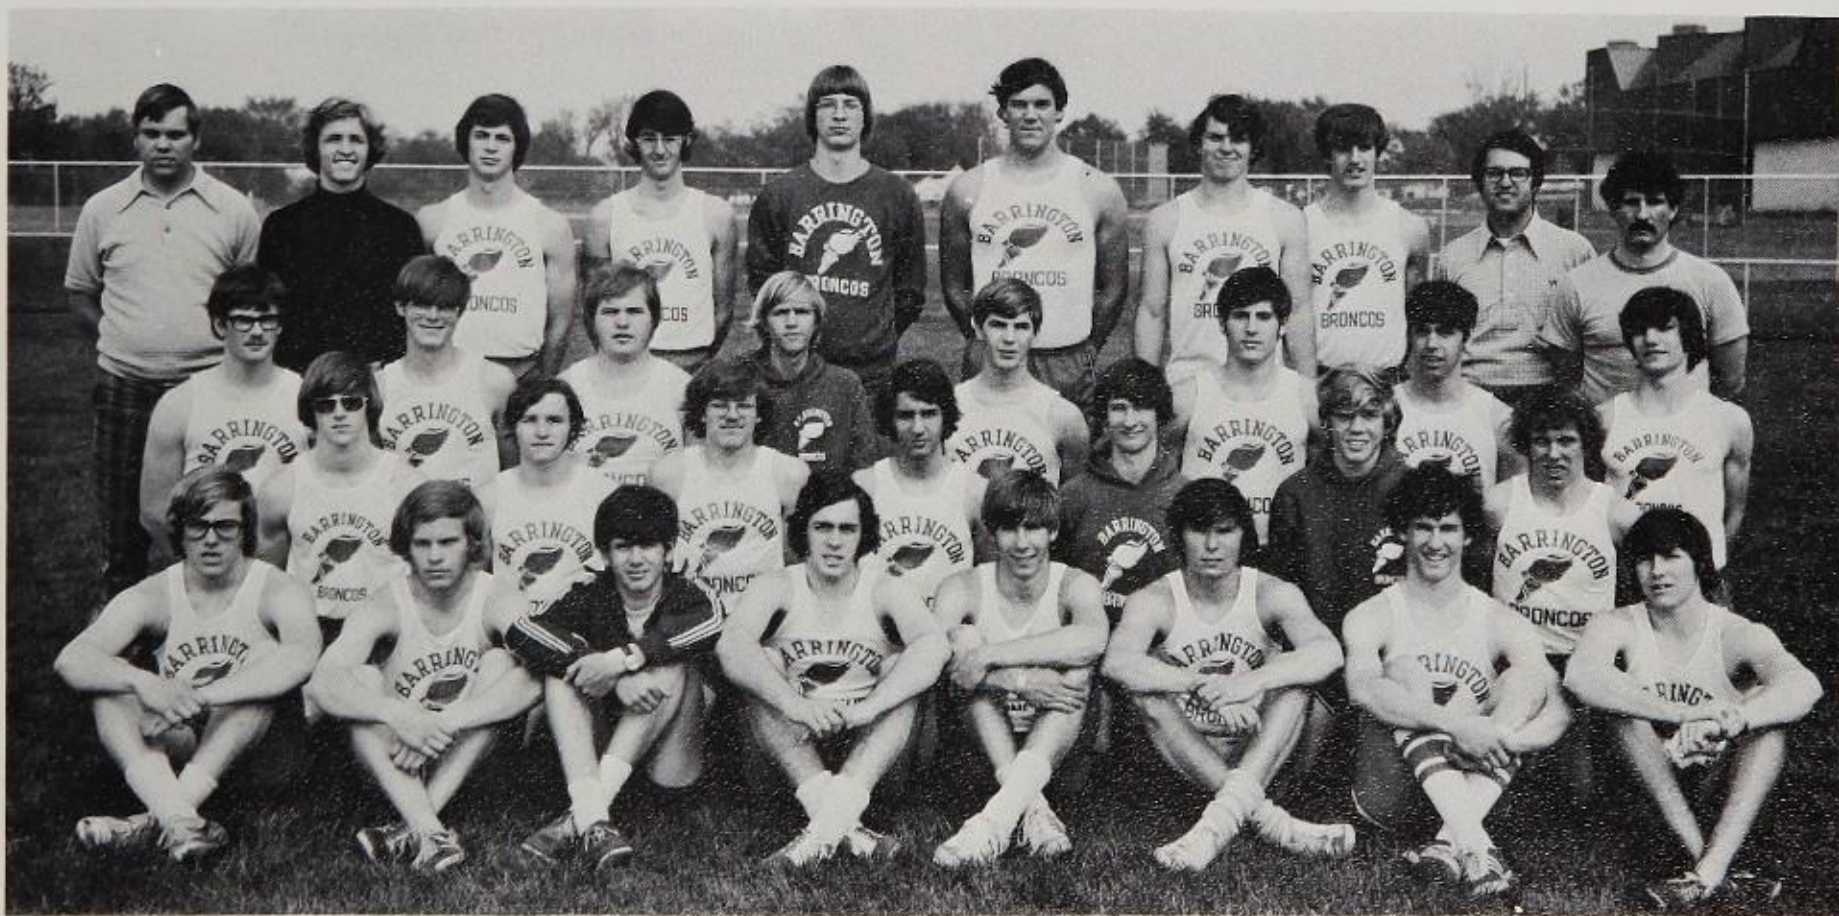

Although the 1974 Broncho track team finished their season with a lowly 4-5 conference record, they accomplished one goal that every team with a state meet sets out to do. They sent one member downstate: Mark Sturwold, the man with the winged-feet. Throughout the spring, Sturwold set a myriad of records in the 120-yard high hurdles. Then he went downstate and clocked his finest time, 14.3 seconds, and came home with a sixth place ribbon. His team-mates greeted him with as much enthusiasm as if they, too, had made the trip. Some still have high hopes and surely will try to prove themselves. Perhaps there will be another like Sturwold next year.

Chess Club is not only the place to play chess with future grandmasters; chess club is also the place to hear a lot of bad jokes. Ask any member "Would you trade a queen for two bishops and a knight?" and he'll probably reply, "No, but I'd trade a queen for two girls and a night out." One hopes that chess club will make it through the year in one piece. (Well, their official name is The Barrington High School Chess Nuts.)

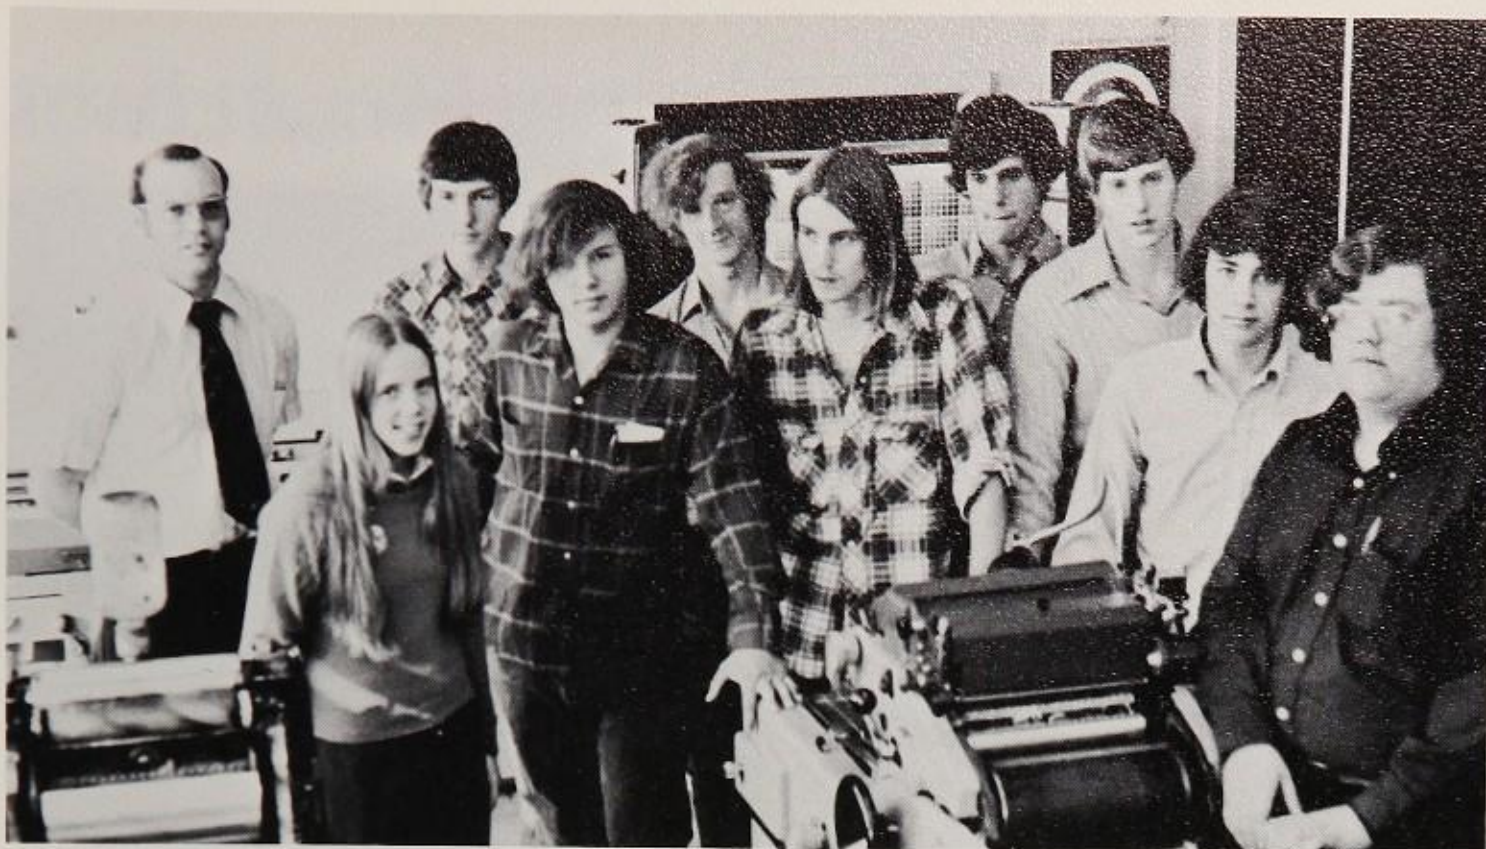

Late this school year District 220's own radio station, WBPR-FM, was on the air. The membership in the radio station has nearly quadrupled from an eager bunch of eight enthusiasts to a more eager bunch of twenty-five enthusiasts (not including all of the other members that are hiding under the turntables and on top of the antenna). All are dedicated to making 88.5 on your FM dial "the place to be."

INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC AT BHS

Barrington has long been an institution where the development of learning in the performing arts is encouraged. In the early 1960's the performing arts wing was built to provide further instruction for those interested in the arts. Today there are many performing arts groups, a few of which are strictly for instrumentalists.

The BHS orchestra under the direction of Steve Warble has improved in the past few years and the group presents periodic performances. Orchestra consists of elite wind players who join the soleful strings in playing myriad classical pieces. . .and perhaps an occasional contemporary one.

The symphonic band took a spring tour to Iowa City and under the direction of David Hans performed intricate pieces by some of the more (perhaps less) famous composers.

Barrington's Rithum Machine, twenty five superior musicians, perform at various contests and regular concerts. These kids traveled to Whitewater, Wisconsin for a jazz festival and were among the top three finishers. Next they visited Crown Point, Indiana and placed in the top five.

Musicians are a rare people, only few possess the talent to become great - but Barrington is doing everything possible to encourage these artists.

When you hear the word PRISM, what do you think of? A jail cell? A book? Perhaps a new fangled toy for amateur scientists? How about the name of the school newspaper?

So you've heard of it before? Well, it can't be that bad! Did you ever bring your paltry 15¢ and find out the PRISM wasn't coming out for another month? Sure, publication was a problem, but doesn't everyone have some problem or another--maybe some to a greater extent than others?

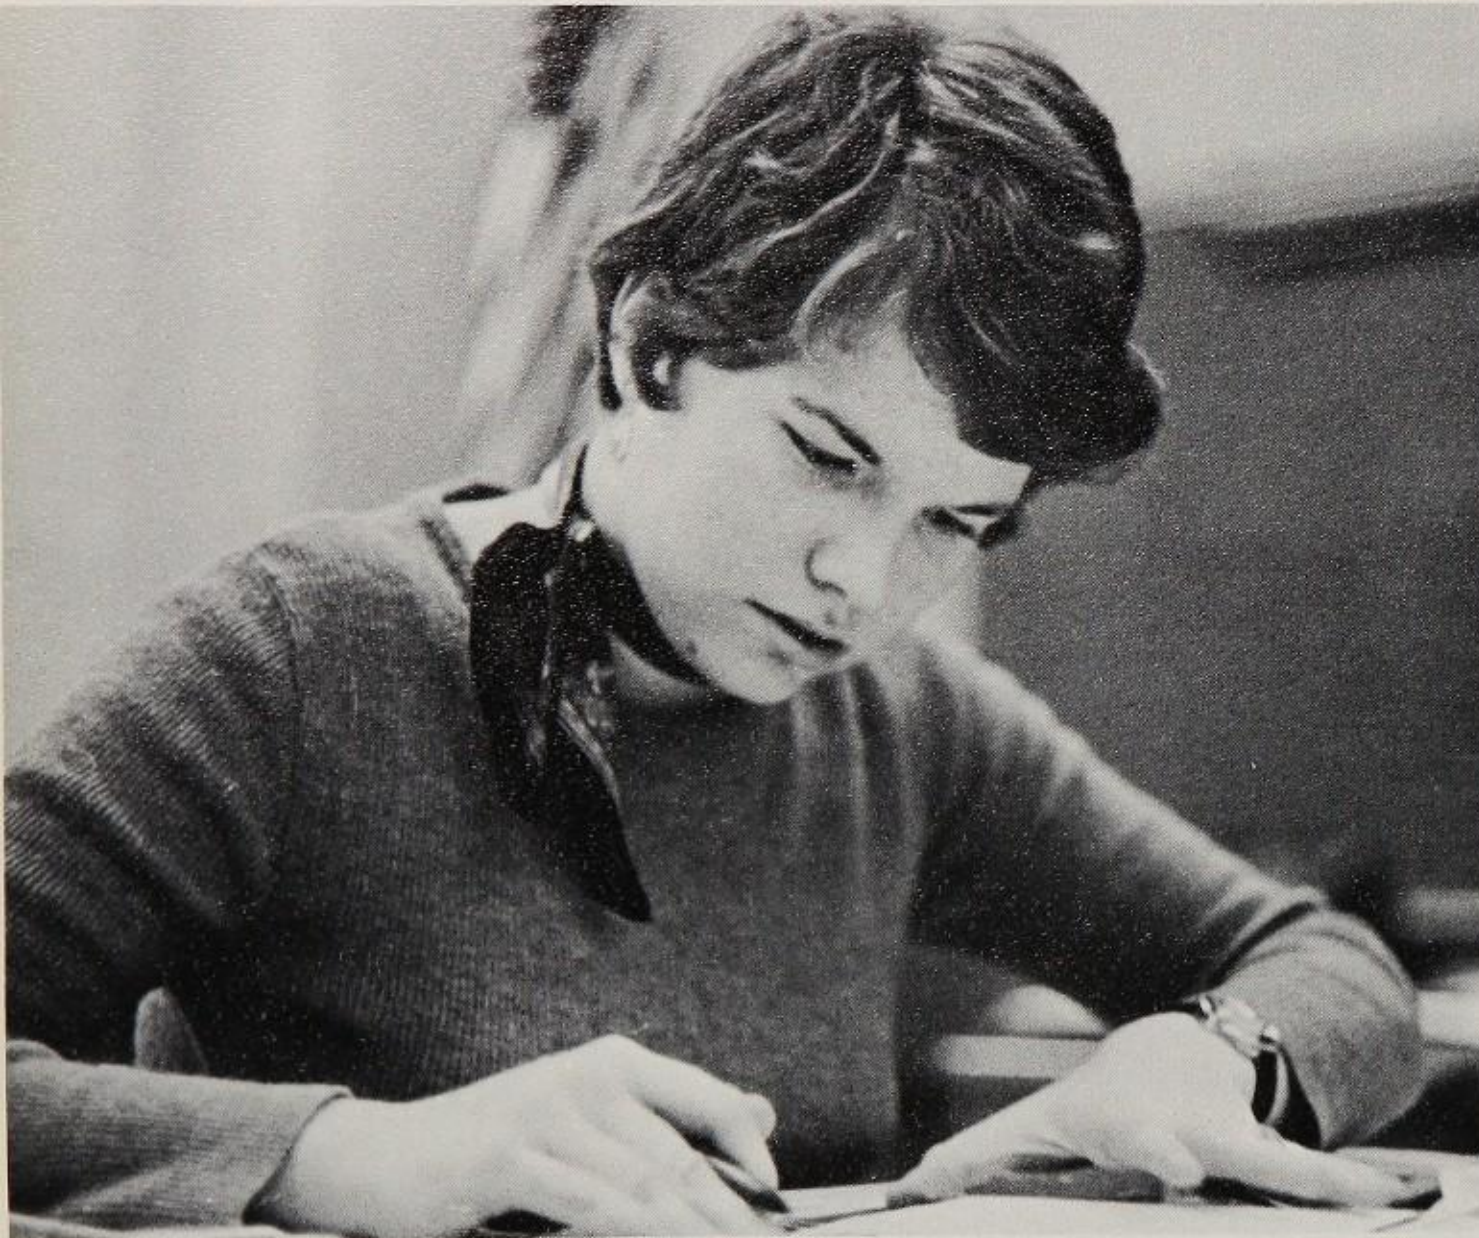

The articles seemed confusing to some people. But why? All the paper's articles on alcohol were fairly straightforward (although the pictures may have been a little confusing). The party reviews seemed to tell a person all about the social life of some members of the senior community.

What was left was devoted to jocks and the like, either the controversy thereof, or maybe just a short paragraph describing some mediocre athletic midget.

Perhaps this is deprecating. Perhaps it isn't. But this copy is almost a double for the PRISM's type of sarcastic humor.

just a typical,

The yearbook is just not quite the same without a bunch of strange and unusual comments made during the year by the many worthy yearbook staffers. So, ready or not, here they come.

You can't use the dot system. . .when is opening and closing going to be done? . . .Don't tell me you lost the team picture? . . .Well, that's O.K., I never did like team pictures under the shower anyway. . .QUESTION: Who is Grabitzki? ANSWER: I'm not telling you. . .that is not a candid. . .you know I'm biased, don't you? . . .you can't write copy in Middle English. . .brylaness--is it catching? . . .these mug photos are terrible--there's absolutely no way I'm going to use these. . .yes, Mr. Bergstrom, I'll have all 28 pages in on time. . .fastest layout in the (mid)west! . . .you mean they named a whole booth after us? . . .the big three. . .star typist. . .QUESTION: Who are K.D.B., B.W., L.H., B.G., L.G., S.W., E.M., and M.M.? ANSWER: I'm not telling you that either. . .How many pictures can I put on a layout? Only six? but I need to put more on. . .how about thirteen? . . .shrinking staff. . .these grease pencils are not fit for human consumption. . .hey you, yeh you frosh, gimme the names of your fellow football players--and quick because I'm late for class. . .if you don't print my poem I'll quit. . .that room brings back memories of my childhood. . .

We endured, to say the least.

All seniors, we are told, start out as freshmen. Even the class of '75 was once all freshmen. With much skill and determination, however, the class of '75 freshmen became the class of '75 seniors. Quite an admirable accomplishment, to say the least.

But what can the class of '75 look back to as their greatest accomplishments?

The class of '75 may be remembered as the class that battled the evils of the recession in its own little way.

The class of '75 may be remembered as the class that battled the evils of the depression in its own little way.

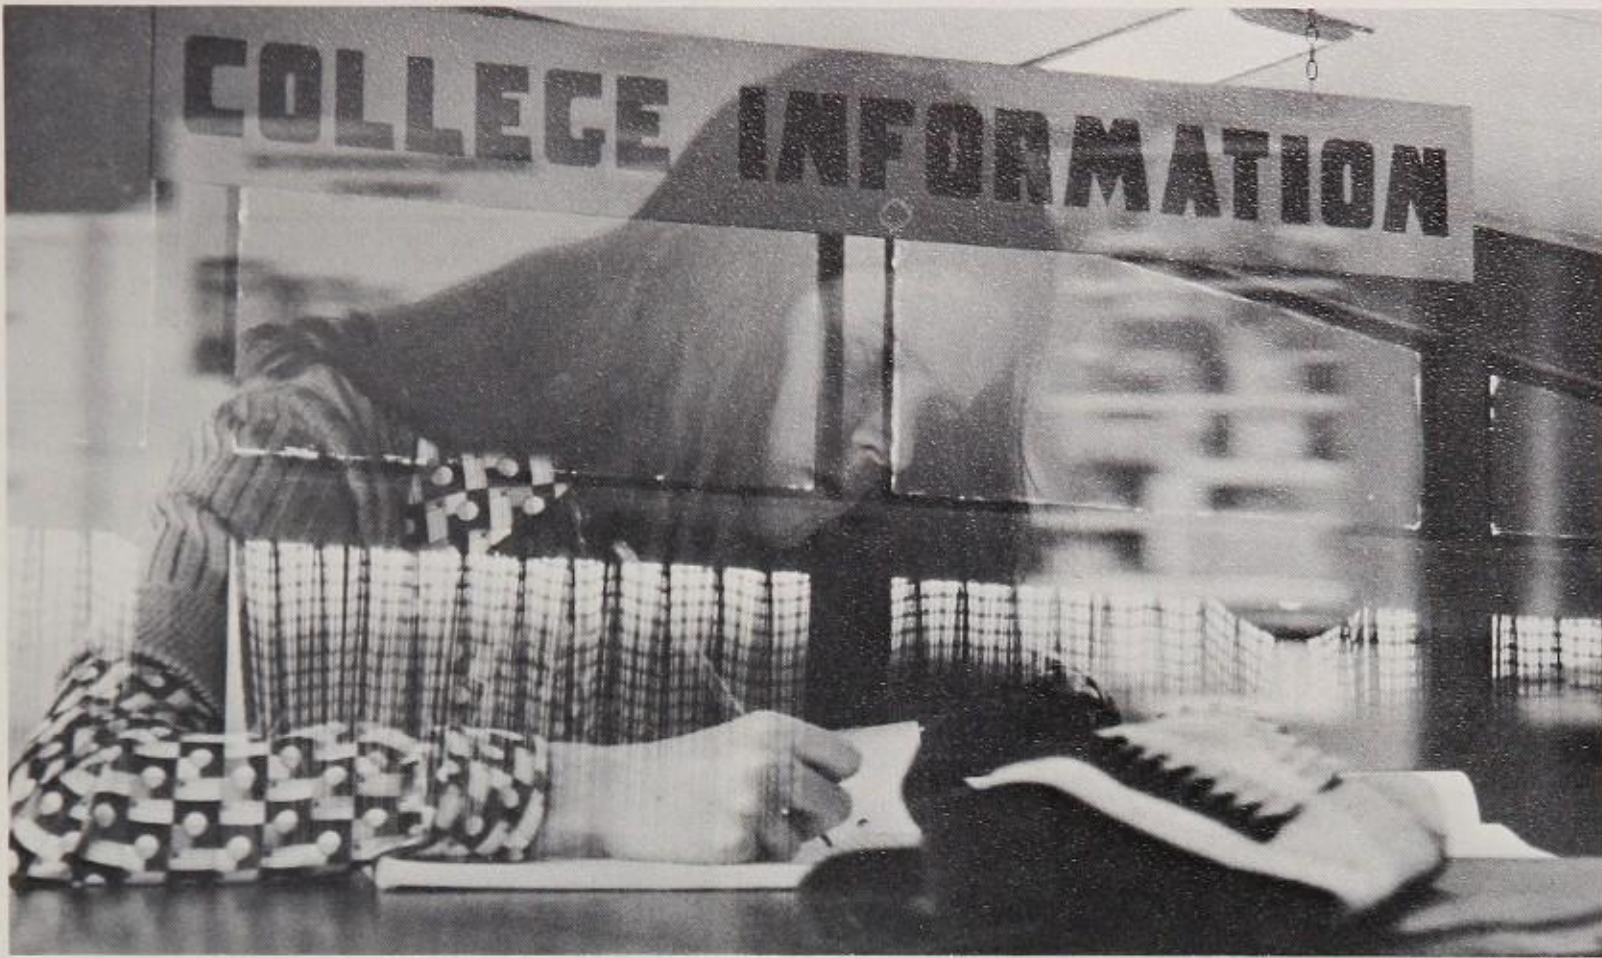

But probably, the class of '75 will be remembered for the little things, like new fire alarms, non-functioning clocks, a new version of the senior slump (known basically as the "try hard but not too hard" syndrome). . . .

walk together, talk together. . .

AFS is people who want to give something to one another; who want to share ideas, responsibilities, emotions, and quiet times; who seek to change and to grow.

Jo believed in AFS. She worked to make that peaceful world a reality. Her gentleness and humor will be missed.

Dear Anna -
I could just tell me. and with forever
I just might - so her goes.
I remember the first couple of times I met you. Steve Baratta, Amy Americans Festival. I went to the young park.
Remember the Double Ferris wheel! I also went to a couple of strange parties at your house! We went to Biltmore.
of hot chocolate. Your mom made 1 1/2 huge pots stairs and painting a face on my chin. I can go from Mike Riotta to Paul Burke - and of course my great friend Mr. Raven Hansen!! I wonder what's going to happen in the next few years! You Wisconsin people will be sure to keep in contact OK. I know you'll do great so stay in touch. I think you're a beautiful person. Beautiful inside and out - So stay Cool!

Love you

I'm glad to hear from you Goodbye

Cen

I'm glad I got to know you this year. Thanks for being a great time. You are always laughing all the time. Remember when we went to the beach? That was pretty much fun. Hope to see you a lot in the summer. Good luck next year and try to remember me. Love Ken summer and lots of love

Eric

Hey pal - it's a great time - High School has been great -
I just can't believe it's over Here we are ready to face college - wow - Since year was the best all at the wild parties including Bavors moon dipping party - Ha Homecoming, prom etc. I'm really going to miss all of the good times - so keep in touch and I'll suck with Eric - Love ya always Sharon

Cindi Babi!
"How's it goin?" - Boy will I miss that expression. You one person I'll never forget - and all our great times together. I hope you and Eric work out - that'd be great. I'll miss you kiddo out in California. You should come out with Swain Butt - when she comes to see Robin & I. I'll write you - good luck next year at school and let's get together over

Cindi,

You're a great kid to get in trouble with. We'll have to do it again. (Really I don't want to, ya know) Listen, you better invite me to go swimming this summer, because I feel foolish just stopping by.
Make yourself present this summer and don't lose contact when you go off to school either, got it!

Jeff.

Cindi,

Remember all the times when we did something terrible. Remember the entire year we spent together.
I will always remember you because there is no way than I can miss you if you are within a mile of me.
Keep as good as you are and corrupt the hell out of Eric.

Dan

you're one of the sweetest
I know. Love,
Lauren
